13. Read the following report of the Committee appointed to fix the number of papers to be set in each subject for the Premchand Roychand Studentship examination.

“With reference to a resolution of the Syndicate at their meeting on the 10th of April 1886 in which we were appointed a Committee to fix the number of papers to be set in each subject for the Premchand Roychand Studentship examination under the rules on pp. 148, 149 of the Minutes for 1882-83, which were adopted by the Senate at their meeting on the 11th of March 1884, we have the honour to recommend that the following rules be adopted:—

1. In each of the five subjects for examination four papers shall be set.

2. In subject 2 of the Literary course two papers shall be set in each of the optional languages.

3. In subject 3 of the Scientific course two papers shall be theoretical and two practical.

4. In subjects 4 and 5 of the Scientific course three papers shall be theoretical and one practical.

We would also suggest that each paper should carry 100 marks.

As we consider it highly desirable to encourage thoroughness of knowledge, and to discourage the practice of students taking up many subjects and acquiring a superficial knowledge of each, we would recommend that only marks in excess of 30 in each paper should be counted towards the total, and that each mark above 70 should count as 2 marks towards the total.

(Signed) W. GRIFFITHS,

To

W. GRIFFITHS, Esq., M. A.

Registrar, Calcutta University.

Sir,

I request the favour of your submitting the following propositions for the consideration of the Syndicate at their next meeting.

(1) That in para. 6 of the Regulations for the Entrance examination, the following alterations be made :—

(a) Under the head of Arithmetic, the words “ Present worth, Discount, stocks,” be inserted after the words “ Simple Interest.” Present Worth, Discount, and stocks are important portions of Arithmetic on which questions are generally set; and it is desirable that they should be expressly included in the definition of subjects.

(b) Under the head of Geometry and Mensuration, the words “ bounded by straight lines” be inserted after the words “ plane surfaces.” There was such a limitation when Todhunter’s Mensuration was the text-book, and unless the subject is so limited, it would be too long and difficult for Entrance students to get through.

(2) That in the F. A. Course in Geometry, a portion of the text-book, Wilson’s Geometry, namely, Theorems 1 to 12 of Section I of Book IV, be left out. These theorems treat of the properties of ratio and proportion geometrically. But it will be sufficient for the student to learn them from Algebra, if he learns (what he ought to learn and what is given in most text-books in Algebra) that the algebraical definitions of proportion is deducible from the geometrical, and conversely, the geometrical from the algebraical.

(3) That in the rules for the guidance of examiners the following clauses be inserted :

(a) The papers set should be such as can be reasonably expected to be answered fully within the time allotted.

(b) The questions in each subject should be fairly distributed over the whole course in that subject.

(c) In the papers set at the Entrance examination, the questions should be framed chiefly with a view to test a general but intelligent knowledge of the subjects, and questions that are very minute or very difficult, should, as a rule, be avoided.

(d) In the Mathematical papers set at the Entrance examination, at least one half of the marks should be assigned to book-work.

I have, &c. &c.,

(Sd.) GOOROODASS BANERJEE.

NARIKEDANGA, CALCUTTA, }
The 28th April, 1886. }

RESOLVED—

That the proposals in paras. 1 and 3 (d) be referred to the Faculty of Arts for consideration and report.

That the proposal in para. 2 be referred to the Board of Studies in Mathematics.

That the proposals in para. 3 (a), (b) and (c) be adopted.

43. Read a letter from Mr. J. Slater forwarding the answer papers of Rakhaldas Mukerjee an Entrance candidate, in Arithmetic and Algebra.

ORDERED—

That the Registrar write to the Principal, Metropolitan Institution, and request him to inform Rakhaldas Mukerjee that the Syndicate will not allow him to go up for the Entrance examination in 1887 or 1888 on account of the very improper nature of some remarks in some of the answers given in the above-mentioned answer paper.

41. The Registrar reported that he had paid to the Rev. W. Smith, Principal, General Assembly's Institution, Rs. 200 for superintending the Entrance examination of over 800 candidates in that Institution.

RESOLVED—

That the Registrar's action be approved.

45. Read a letter from Babu Umeshchandra Datta, Principal, City College, asking if any remuneration would be paid to him for superintending the Entrance examination held in his College.

RESOLVED—

That Rs. 75 be paid to the Principal of the City College for superintending the Entrance examination of over 300 candidates in his College.

46. The Registrar reported that he had been obliged to retain the services of the extra clerk for four months instead of three.

ORDERED—

That the Registrar's action be approved.

47. Read a letter from the Director of Public Instruction, Bengal, stating that he had no objection to the wording of the marginal note in the application form for candidates at the Entrance examination being changed in the direction pointed out by Mr. Hill, Inspector of Schools, Eastern Circle.

RESOLVED—

That the alteration in the marginal note in the application form for Entrance candidates in the direction pointed out by Mr. Hill be referred to the Faculty of Arts for consideration.

48. Read a letter from the Professor of Physical Science, L. M. College, Benares, suggesting that Physical Geography be removed from the Entrance course.

RESOLVED—

That the Professor of Physical Science, L. M. College, Benares, be informed that the Syndicate see no reason for adopting the suggestions made in his letter.

49. Read an endorsement from the Principal, Metropolitan Institution, forwarding a letter from Sasisekhar Ray, a disappointed Entrance candidate, for the favourable consideration of the Syndicate.

RESOLVED—

That the Syndicate see no reason for interfering with the results of the Entrance examination.

50. Read a letter from the Under-Secretary, Government of India, Home Department, dated Simla, 9th June 1886, stating that the Governor-General in Council approves and sanctions the changes in the Regulations of the Calcutta University for a Licence in Medicine and Surgery, and for the degree of Bachelor in Medicine, which were sanctioned by the Senate at their meeting on the 17th of April.

ORDERED—

To be recorded.

51. Read a letter from Mr. H. J. S. Cotton intimating that he intended to give notice at the meeting of the Senate on the 12th of June that at the next subsequent meeting he would move for the appointment of a Special Committee to enquire into and report on the system under which candidates for the Entrance examination are admitted into the University.

ORDERED—

That Mr. Cotton be informed that under sec. 14 of the Bye-Laws referring to the Syndicate he cannot bring any question before the Senate which has not, in the first instance, been considered by the Syndicate.

Mr. Cotton is of opinion that the Entrance standard should be lowered.

That the Syndicate do not consider it desirable to lower the standard of the Entrance course.

58. Read a letter from certain members of the Senate recommending that the limit of age in the rules for election to the State scholarships be increased from 21 to 23 years.

62. Read a letter from the Principal of the Medical College, enclosing a letter to the Director of Public Instruction in which the Principal suggests that the following rule be inserted in the University Calendar.

“Female students who have passed the Entrance examination, attended classes and obtained their certificate in Medicine, Surgery and Midwifery in the Calcutta Medical College, will be allowed, on passing the F. S. without a further course of one year's study provided they have also attended a second course of Anatomy and of Physiology, and one course of Botany, so completing the minor course of classes.”

ORDERED—

That the letter of the Principal of the Medical College be referred to the Faculty of Medicine for consideration and report.

63. Read a letter from Babu Nilmani Mukerjee, Head Examiner in Sanskrit and Bengali at the last Entrance examination pointing out that in the Tabular statement relating to Examiners' fees at page 230 of the Minutes for 1885-86 the rate for re-examining answer papers in the Second Languages had been put down as 12 annas per paper, whereas the corresponding rate for re-examining the English answer papers had been put down at 1 rupee per paper, and that the consultation fee for the Head Examiner in Sanskrit and Bengali, (who has to re-examine in more than one language) had been put down at Rs. 150, whereas the consultation fee for the Head Examiner in English had been put down at Rs. 200, and requesting that the amount of his remuneration fee might be re-considered.

ORDERED—

regard to the representation contained in a letter, dated Calcutta, June, 1886, signed by certain members of the Senate, and with a view to widen the sphere of selection, it is deemed desirable to raise the limit of age to 22 years for candidates of all classes" be adopted.

Dr. Gooroodass Banerjee seconded the motion.

Mr. H. J. S. Cotton proposed the following amendment:

"That the Governor-General in Council be informed that in the opinion of the University Authorities it is desirable that the present opportunity should be taken to reframe the rules relating to the Government scholarships in a manner more consonant to the wishes of the Hindu and Mahomedan communities on the subject.

That in the opinion of the University the limit of age should be reduced to 18 years for candidates of all classes, and that the scholars should be elected by competitive examination, and that at every third examination the competition should be limited to Mahomedans only.

The Chairman ruled that the foregoing amendment with the exception of the words "That in the opinion of the University the limit of age should be reduced to 18 years for candidates of all classes" could not be put to the meeting on the ground that no notice that this question would be discussed had been given to the Senate.

To

THE COLLECTOR OF BURDWAN.

SIR,

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter forwarding letter No. 533, dated the 14th May 1886 from the Registrar, University of Calcutta, asking for certain information with reference to my letter, dated the 23rd October, 1885, addressed to you and to state as follows:—

(1) The testator Babu Sarodamprasad Ray died on the 6th Chaitra, 1271 leaving a will which was formerly proved on 19th June 1868 and in respect of which certificate was granted under Act XXVII of 1868 on the 14th July 1868.

(2) At that time the cash in hand was Rs. 3,27,000 invested in Government of India Promissory notes.

(3) The legacy of Rs. 5,000 to the University was payable from out of income of properties other than in respect of which Trusts have been created.

(4) That the Government Promissory notes are for the preservation of the estate.

(5) That since the death of the testator, the estate during my minority was in the hands of two executors, and afterwards the Court of Wards till Kartick 1287.

(6) That from the death of the testator, down to Kartick 1287 there was no surplus.

(7) That for 7 or 8 years' litigation with reference to the validity of the Will was carried on, for which the Court of Wards sold Government of India Promissory notes of the value of about Rs. 75,000 and spent the whole of the income of the estate.

(8) That since after the attainment of majority I got the estate in Augran 1287 up to this moment, after paying from the income of the estate stipends, &c., no surplus is left, on the contrary the interest of the Trust papers is drawn upon as loan to protect the estate.

(9) There were no Government of India Promissory notes set apart for paying the legacy to the University; if there had been the Court of Wards or myself after attaining majority would have paid the interest due on such Company's papers to the University.

Under the above circumstances I beg my application for the remission of interest may be taken into favourable consideration.

I have, &c.,

- (1). that each scholar would be entitled to receive a sum of £100 for passage money, and that a similar sum would be payable within one month before his actual return to India, if he should complete the full period of three years' residence, or be compelled by sickness to return before the completion of that period; and
- (2) that if any scholar, not being disabled by sickness, failed to complete a residence of three years in England, or was guilty of gross misconduct, or disregard of the orders of Her Majesty's Secretary of State, he would, at the discretion of the Secretary of State, forfeit his scholarship and further be liable to refund the sum of £100 drawn by him as passage money.

2. As regards the age limit fixed by the Resolution of 12th February last, representations have been received by the Government of India to the effect that the result of prescribing a maximum limit of 21 years will practically involve the exclusion of Muhammadan youths from participation in the benefits of the scholarships in question. The Governor-General in Council has now, after careful consideration and consultation with the authorities of the Calcutta University, resolved to raise the age limit. It is accordingly notified that the maximum limit of age for all classes of candidates for these scholarships shall be 22 years instead of 21 years as prescribed in paragraph 3 of the Resolution above cited.

3. In accordance with directions from Her Majesty's Secretary of State, the Governor-General in Council further announces that, in modification of the orders contained in paragraphs 4 and 6 of the Resolution of 12th February 1886,—

- (1) each scholar shall be provided with a free passage to and from England instead of with a sum of £100 as passage money for each journey; and
- (2) if any scholar, not being disabled by sickness, fails to complete a residence of three years in England, or is guilty of gross misconduct or disregard of the orders of Her Majesty's Secretary of State, he will, at the discretion of the Secretary of State, forfeit his scholarship, and will also be liable to refund the amount representing the cost of his free passage to England.

ORDER.—Ordered, that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to the Governments of Madras, Bombay, and the Punjab for information and communication to the authorities of the Universities concerned.

Ordered also, that a copy be forwarded to the Governments of Bengal and the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, the Chief Commissioners of the Central Provinces, Burma, Assam and Coorg and the Resident at Hyderabad for information; and to the Registrar of the Calcutta University for information and guidance.

Ordered further, that a copy be forwarded to the Department of Finance for information, and that the Resolution be published in the Supplement to the Gazette of India.

In reply to your office letter No. 667, dated the 7th instant I have the honour to inform you that as officiating Director of Public Instruction I myself suggested the scheme for an alternative practical Entrance Examination, and now as Principal of the Presidency College I see no reason for extensively modifying that scheme. Dated Bankipore, the 23rd July, 1886.

SIR,

With reference to the letter No. 1810 to the Registrar, Calcutta University I think the plan therein detailed is a good one and I have no amendments to offer. Some new, i. e., additional Entrance Examination is necessary, and in January of this year I wrote to the Registrar recommending that a modified Examination should be instituted as a step to technical instruction. In the plan now under review it is proposed that drawing be made one of the subjects. I think myself that drawing should be taught in all schools and especially in those that lead up to technical schools. If in Government Collegiate Schools or other large schools a B. Section were opened teaching the subjects you propose, the drawing master could give instruction to the A. Section or some of its classes, when he was not required in the B. Section. This B. Section could spring out of the A. Section at about the third class of that A. Section. Under the bifurcation the Collegiate School would have only one set of classes as at present. Above the bifurcation, the work would be partly the same and partly different. These, however, are mere details, and it is only the general principle that is now under consideration.

The principle of a technical preparatory school with a special Entrance Examination is I think excellent.

In reply to your No. 667, dated Calcutta, the 7th July 1886, I beg to state that I quite agree with Mr. Tawney's views as expressed in his No. 1810, dated Calcutta, the 18th March. I would make Map Drawing a part of the History and Geography examination, as I think the examination as at present conducted is no preventive of cramming. SIR,

I am in receipt of a copy of a letter No. 1810, dated the 18th March to your address, in which the Director of Public Instruction, Bengal, makes certain proposals for establishing an alternative Entrance Examination of a more practical kind than that now in force.

I have the honour to state as my opinion that some such scheme is greatly to be desired in the interests of those students who may intend taking up either branch of the Engineering profession.

The only objection to such scheme being, as far as I can see, the largely increased outlay required to work the two courses together. More class accommodation would be necessary, and two or three additional teachers wanted. This would be likely to render the plan proposed, unpopular with private institutions.

TO

THE REGISTRAR OF THE CALCUTTA

UNIVERSITY.

SIR,

In answer to your communication No. 667, dated July 7th, 1886, asking my opinion of the proposals contained in the letter of the Offg. Director of Public Instruction for Bengal, I have the honour to make the following remarks :

2. I regret that I am unable to approve of the scheme for the following reasons :

(i) It seems to me that it would have no practical effect on the encouragement of Technical Education.

(ii) It would cause inconveniences in the working of Schools and Colleges.

3. As I do not know the exact meaning of the term 'Technical Education' I will define the sense in which I propose to use the words. By Technical Education I mean such an education as will enable a man to carry on one of the higher branches of industry. I am aware that the term is also applied so as to include education given to workmen, but I presume the Technical Education spoken of by the University is of the higher sort intended for the superintendent of labour and not for the mechanic. It appears as if Engineering were included in the use of the word in the Director's letter. But as Engineering is a well-marked and well-understood profession, I will deal with it separately and not under the head of 'Technical Education.'

4. I will speak of my first objection; first, with reference to Engineering; secondly, with reference to Technical Education.

As regards Engineering it seems to me needless for a student to specialize before he passes the Entrance Examination. Students in England specialize for the professions after they leave school. The education required to make a good Engineer must last several years. The time saved by learning a little Physics, Chemistry, and Drawing will only be a few months. On the other hand time will be lost by the students not knowing even the small amount of English demanded by the Entrance Examination, for all the books he must subsequently study will be in English. I fail to see anything "practical" in the education proposed, except the drawing. Are the Physics and Chemistry to be done experimentally by the student? If so, the schools must get laboratories and new masters. It would be something practical if carpentering and metal work were required, but this would demand workshops and lathes attached to every school, with men qualified to teach.

As regards Technical Education it is not easy to say how Technical Education, that would be of any service, can be given to Indian students. I do not see that a student who passes this new Entrance Examination will be practically any nearer towards possessing a Technical Education than he was before. His Physics and Chemistry will not amount probably to more than the Physics learnt by the F. A. students at present, which as far as comprehension of the principles of physical science or practical knowledge are concerned is a ludicrous farce. Something much more than theoretical knowledge is needed for Technical Education. Even men who pass the Mathematical or Natural Science Tripos at Cambridge are as helpless as before as regards Technical Education. The only way I know, of gaining Technical Instruction, is to work for many years as apprentice in a big factory. It seems to me the University has begun at the wrong end. We should first have the factories for training men. Unless the State is prepared to start such factories, I do not see how Technical Education can be introduced.

5. Several inconveniences would arise from the introduction of the scheme.

(i) Teaching in the schools would be made more complicated, and more masters would be required.

(ii) As it is proposed that students who pass this examination shall have all the privileges of Entrance students, it is to be concluded that they can proceed to the F. A. and B. A. If they join the F. A. classes, they will interfere a great deal with the teaching of the other students in English and the Second Language. Either the other will be retarded or they will be neglected, and will stand little chance of passing.

I have the honour to be,

Sir,

Your most obedient servant,

THEODORE BECK,

Principal, M. A. O. College.

REV. A. NEUT, S. J.,

Rector, St. Xavier's College.

TO

W. GRIFFITHS, Esq.,

Registrar, Calcutta University.

Calcutta, 26th July, 1886.

SIR,

In reply to the request contained in your letter, No. 667, dated the 7th instant, I have the honour to forward the following remarks, for the kind consideration of the Syndicate.

1. I agree with Mr. Tawney that there is an urgent necessity for Technical Education in this country.

2. To the fact that a preliminary practical training in schools is required, to lead up to the higher technical training, I beg to oppose the following statements :

(a.) It results from fair and complete trials in different countries, and is admitted by the most impartial and qualified witnesses, that Technical Education, as a substitute for the Classical Education, is no necessity, nay yields inferior results ; that the Classical Education is decidedly a sufficient and even the best preparation to Higher Technical Studies, as well as to trade and any business in life.

(b.) Reason and authority show that it is a mistake, to aim in the work of education in schools, at any other object, than to produce power, to gain knowledge, and to use it when gained ; that such power is best produced by classical studies.

(c.) Reason and authority state that the attempt to teach directly in boyhood all that in after life, it will be desirable to know, results in destruction of knowledge itself.

For proof of these statements, I further beg to refer you, to a pamphlet on the 'Demand for Technical Education,' which I am publishing and of which I shall be able to send you some copies, I hope in a few days.

I shall feel obliged to you if you kindly lay the pamphlet before the members of the Syndicate for their kind consideration.

FROM

THE PRINCIPAL, MORRIS COLLEGE.

Nagpur, Central Provinces.

TO

THE REGISTRAR, CALCUTTA UNIVERSITY.

SIR,

Regarding the proposal from Bengal that an alternative Entrance Examination as described in para. 2 of the Bengal letter should be established, my opinion, I am allowed to state, is adverse to that proposal, and on the grounds which follow—

The Bengal proposal as I understand it is to secure a certain object by a stated means. The Bengal proposal is to secure the spread of technical education in Indian schools and colleges by the institution of a 'practical' examination at the Entrance of the University, it being assumed that "if the Senate announces it will examine candidates in any subject a demand for the teaching of that subject is created." The Bengal proposal is that this 'practical' examination should be in Mathematics, History and Geography, Physics, Chemistry, Mechanical Drawing. All students, it is proposed, must pass this examination in order to qualify for a degree in Engineering.

Now, leaving the assumption to pass unquestioned, for the purposes of Engineering I do not deny that the examination proposed is a practical one. Such a preliminary

* Except possibly the London, examination is exacted in no* I do not know.

University at home at the Entrance stage of the Arts Course; but that does not affect the character of the proposed examination nor make it an unpractical one for India. But at this point we reach the fault of the Bengal proposal as Mr. Tawney words it. The Bengal proposal fails to distinguish between practical and technical education. The means proposed by Mr. Tawney speaking for Bengal do not correspond (save in regard to Engineering) with the end sought. The practical examination proposed in para. 11 of the Bengal letter will not further technical education.

For it is not easy to say in what sense the Bengal proposal uses the terms practical and technical. By a practical examination can only perhaps be meant an examination in subjects not literary; therefore one in subjects scientific; and Mr. Tawney's examination scheme supports this conclusion. Yet this cannot be the meaning since scientific education is not, and technical education is, the aim of the Bengal proposal.

Nor is it easy to grasp the meaning of the word 'technical' as used by the Bengal letter. The word has a University use and a popular use. Technical education in an University means education in Engineering, Medicine and Law. The popular meaning is quite different. To the people technical education means a training for handicrafts given in special workshops. Which meaning does the Bengal proposal use? Looking at Mr. Tawney's proposed examination, the answer seems to be the University meaning; and in that case Mr. Tawney would propose to encourage Law and Medicine as well as Engineering by means of a practical examination. But this is not the Bengal proposal nor do I suppose it is Mr. Tawney's. The Bengal proposal is in reality far wider. The Bengal proposal is the symptom of a rebellion against a very vital evil—against the largely mnemonic and consequently incomplete character of Indian higher education. This evil is not ad rem and I pass it by. None the less is the Bengal proposal aimed against it, for the proposal from Bengal desires to encourage a general culture of hand and eye as well as of mind and memory. Mr. Tawney's examination may do this for Engineering, and so far it is praiseworthy. But under the correction of men of many times greater experience than I can claim to possess Mr. Tawney's proposals will not I believe effect what Mr. Tawney himself wishes to effect.

The whole question of technical education—strangely enough excluded from the range of Mr. Hunter's Commission in 1882-83—that is, technical education in the popular sense underlies this suggestion from Bengal, and no proposal for an additional University Examination adequately meets its importance. It is the Local Governments, and the Local Education Departments that have need to enquire whether their primary and secondary systems in fact only turn out men ready in a little time to be ticketed with the letters F. A. or B. A., or whether doing much more they turn out men whom a few years will find earning a decent livelihood by the well taught exercise of a craft.

With apologies for a longer communication than perhaps the circumstances seem to warrant,

I am, Sir,

Very faithfully yours,

STANLEY SHAW.

27th July, 1886.

DEAR SIR,

In reply to your Circular of July 7th, regarding Mr. Tawney's scheme for an alternative Entrance Examination I have much pleasure in saying,

(1) That the plan suggested seems a good one. Every one must admit that the present Course leads up to little save the Arts Course, while it does little to help in technical education.

(2) While a good one for most, and especially for the large Colleges of Bengal, it is I fear, likely to be a very great tax upon many of the up-country schools, where the classes are small, so small as to be unable to bear subdivision; and where the whole strength of the teaching staff is occupied with the one Course.

(3) I fear that without making one part of the course, English, there is little hope of boys advancing in that subject sufficiently well to make themselves familiar with subjects like Chemistry and Physics; unless indeed they are of such an elementary character as to be almost useless. I would suggest English as a separate subject.

(4) Might not also some attention be given to Book Keeping? It seems at least as important as Mensuration for boys, of whom perhaps one half, enter various offices, and few of whom ever go in for Surveying or Engineering.

SIR,

In reply to your No. 667 of 7th instant, I beg to inform you that I approve of the proposed alternative Entrance Examination and hope the suggestion will be adopted by the University.

I should, however, be glad to see Subject V, Geometrical Drawing, [say to the extent of "First Principles of Geometrical Drawing," Roorkee Engineering College Manual, price 1/4], instead of Mechanical Drawing as proposed by Mr. Tawney.

For English boys I should then much prefer this alternative examination to the present Entrance Examination; and I think that most Head Masters of European schools in India would agree with me.

Under the present system European and Eurasian boys, whose spelling and composition in their own mother-tongue is disgraceful, frequently pass the Calcutta University Entrance Examination in the Highest Division. For instance, a short paper sent in to me by an English boy, who had recently passed in the First Division, contained the following mistakes: plannets, peices, privilages, learne, centuary, and many more of the same kind.

It is needless to point out that much harm is done to education, in so far as English boys are concerned, by such results in the English part of the Examination.

SIR,

In reply to your letter No. 667 of 7th July, 1886, I have the honour to inform you that I agree with Mr. Tawney, the Offg. Director of Public Instruction, Bengal, in holding that, for candidates who take up Engineering and similar practical studies, an examination of a more practical nature ought to be established side by side with the present Entrance Examination. To encourage education in Bengal, some such preliminary practical training has become indispensably necessary, and to make it effective a practical Entrance Examination should be held by the University side by side with the present Entrance Examination.

As for the subjects in which the alternative Entrance Examination is to be held. I am of opinion, that English Grammar and Composition ought to be included in the curriculum either as supplementary to the subjects proposed by Mr. Tawney or as substitutes for any one of them. In the present state of Indian society some knowledge of the English language is indispensable, and should be made a compulsory subject in an examination which is intended to be introductory to Collegiate education.

No. 667 of 7th July, 1886.

SIR,

In reference to the above I have the honour to submit that although there can be no doubt of the advantage of technical instruction such as is aimed at in the Scheme, still it does not appear to me at all obvious that the mere announcing of such an Examination will create a demand for the teaching for it. My impression is, that there are not enough openings of promise in the future to induce students to take up this alternative course even if they have the chance.

But perhaps the main difficulty in the matter to be the supplying the means to enable students to prepare for such an examination. The work for this could not be carried on pari passu with the work for the present examination in the schools as they are at present organised: and the additional staff and accommodation which would be required, could not be provided without considerable expense to Government. An expense far greater it seems to me than to be justified by the probable demand for the teaching.

Under these circumstances I doubt whether "it is in the power of the University to ensure practical training being given in schools by instituting a practical Entrance Examination.

DEAR SIR,

I have read with interest your letter or rather that of Mr. Tawney. I think that what is proposed, as an outline, is very good. I am sure there is much need for such an examination. The subjects are those which, I feel sure, the native mind would, if properly taught, readily grasp. The great difficulty to my mind is this: such an examination is instituted, and as you say every College must provide instruction in the subjects. From where can the instructors be obtained? I have not been long in this country, but it seems to me that the standard of the ordinary teacher is miserably low: until really good teachers can be found education in this country will not progress as it should.

SIR,

In reference to your office No. 667, dated the 7th current, asking for an opinion on the scheme for an alternative practical Entrance Examination suggested by the Offg. Director of Public Instruction, Bengal, I have the honor to observe that the necessity of having some such alternative examination has been felt for some time, and that the proposed scheme appears suited to present requirements, except, perhaps, in one of its features, I mean the absence of any sort of examination in English. Although Englishmen can acquire the knowledge of ordinary every day English without studying English master-pieces, the same cannot be expected of native students to whom the language is entirely foreign. Moreover the very fact of the absence of any sort of examination in English will naturally produce in the students intending to take up the alternative Course an indifference towards that branch, which will prove highly detrimental to their acquiring a knowledge of ordinary English. I believe, therefore, that there ought to be some sort of examination to test whether they have acquired a knowledge of ordinary English. This may, perhaps, be best done by setting papers in Translation and Composition.

SIR,

With regard to the letter of the Offg. Director of Public Instruction, suggesting a scheme for an alternative practical Entrance Examination, I have the honor to make a few remarks.

2. The scheme does not propose, I presume, that Technical Instruction should be given in ordinary schools; but that Technical schools having been established throughout the country, students intending to enter these Technical schools should be required to go through the preparatory Course now proposed and to study this Course at the ordinary schools. The practical element in the teaching is to be given at the Technical schools, and the word practical in para. 3 refers to Drawing and the working of experiments in Chemistry. It is important that there should be a clear understanding on this point as it would affect the cost of establishing the supplementary Entrance Class.

3. If this supplementary Entrance Class were established, the Calcutta University would no doubt be the best agency for examination. It seems, however, that the establishment of such supplementary Entrance classes and therefore arrangements about their examination would be premature. It would be time enough to give instruction preparatory to the Technical schools, when these Technical schools exist; and when these have been instituted, the nature of the preparatory training required will be better understood.

4. It might be said that the University Entrance Examination proposed would in the meantime be of use as qualifying for Entrance into the Engineering Colleges. It could not serve that purpose in these Provinces. Roorkee College has an Entrance Examination of its own, and if supplementary Entrance classes were established, they would teach up to the Roorkee Entrance Examination, not to that of the University.

SIR,

I have the honor in reply to your Cir. No. 667, dated the 7th July, to give the following as my opinion on Mr. Farney's alternative Entrance Course.

I entirely approve of it, believing that it will be productive of much good, and that it is a scheme which supplies a felt want.

It is necessary, however, to bear in mind that alterations of this kind, in recent past, occasioned serious riots in College classes. On such occasions students have paraded up and down the verandahs of the College, defying the Principal, and by the subsequent severe punishments inflicted on them, ruining their prospects for life.

3. Alternative Courses always have tended, and always must tend to riots in College classes, especially where both of the classes are large.

4. Alternative Courses invariably cause immense trouble to Principals and Professors in Colleges. Principals of Colleges in and near Calcutta have told me that they regard the recent changes in the M. A. Course, which have introduced alternative Courses into the higher classes of Colleges as the most distressing changes that have ever been made in the history of Education in Bengal. They have overburdened and tortured Principals and Professors with over-work, as there are two sets of classes, but only one set of Professors. And the discontent expressed by the Professors has been very great. A system that renders Professors discontented does incalculable harm to a University. There have been no riots among the students, simply because the number of students in higher classes is always very small. But as it takes as much time for a Professor or a Principal to teach 3 students, as it does to teach 30, the smallness of the classes has been no relief to the wretched, over-worked Professors. I know one Principal who is almost certain to injure his health from over-work from this cause.

5. The way in which alternative Courses cause riots in Colleges is as follows. Suppose the alternative Courses are (1) Chemistry and (2) Psychology; and suppose that 25 students choose Chemistry and 30 Psychology, probably a larger room, and more convenient hours will be allotted to the Psychology students, than to the Chemistry students; and possibly also a Professor who is known to be a good crammer may be selected to teach Psychology; and one who is known to be a bad crammer may be selected to teach Chemistry. This will lead the Chemistry students to declare that they have been sacrificed to the Psychology students in the matter of class-rooms, hours, and crammer. And they may possibly parade the verandahs in an insolent and riotous manner, refusing point-blank to obey the Principal when he orders them to go to their appointed class-room. All this has happened in the past. I obtained my facts from a Principal of one of the best first-grade Government Colleges in India.

6. If the alternative Course is to be adopted, there must be two sets of teachers, or two sets of schools. At present with a monstrously difficult Entrance Examination, the teachers of all good schools are over-worked. To make them do more work would be simply impossible. Moreover most good schools are over-crowded and have no spare rooms.

7. I strongly recommend the alternative Course, however; provided either two sets of schools or two sets of masters are established to teach it. To make the same school teach both alternative Courses would, in my opinion, be the greatest folly imaginable. It would be a presumptuous disregard of all past experience, and of the very bitter consequences, in the shape of riots and mutinies, which alternative Courses have produced.

8. If two sets of schools or two sets of masters be appointed to teach the alternative Courses, then I believe that the teaching of Drawing will be beneficial in the highest degree. Facts have come to my notice, proving the extraordinary value of the teaching of Drawing in India. But as this has been dwelt on with sufficient stress in Mr. Tawney's letter, it is not necessary for me to add anything further in proof of it.

SIR,

In reference to your Circular No. 667, dated the 7th ultimo forwarding, for an expression of opinion a scheme for an alternative course for the Entrance Examination I have the honor to state:—

1. The question of bifurcation of studies for the University Examination, especially in reference to a Science or technical instruction had the consideration of the Senate for some length of time, and after due deliberation was decided. The alternative Course was confined, and very properly, to the B. A. degree Examination. It could not be brought down to the F. A. standard; and I am of opinion that an alternative Course teaching special subjects at the expense of general knowledge for the Entrance Examination is calculated to do more harm than good.

2. By the institution of what is called the Science Course, including elementary, or complete Courses in Physics and Chemistry &c., the University has, I think, done all it can under the present condition of Indian High education, to give a practical or scientific turn to education properly so called. Further diffusion of technical education, such as has been suggested in the Government proposition, should I think, be confined more to primary and secondary education.

3. The proposed Course seems to me to be unique of its kind—it may have its proper uses, but I do not see how an undergraduate trained up in the proposed system can follow up his instructions and compete for higher University honours. The F. A. and B. A. Examinations are closed to him; nor can he go up for the Engineering degrees. His ignorance of English will make him a rara avis.

4. There are practical objections to the scheme, inasmuch as it will embarrass the present school establishments of the whole country, in having to provide for the teaching of two Courses. And I am of opinion that to give free scope to the optional subjects, and therefore to the choice of candidates, the Course should be one which can be universally adopted. The present A. and B. Courses for the B. A. degree, although offering theoretically very great advantages to students, are often found in the Mofussil and outlying stations to put serious obstacles in the way of real progress. Colleges unable to make complete provision for the teaching of both Courses are obliged to compel students, whether qualified or not, to stick to one or other of the Courses irrespective of the students' capacity and thereby not only is the wholesome object of the change frustrated, but a positive harm is produced.

SIR,

I have the honor to acknowledge receipt of your office No. 667, dated 7th ultimo, forwarding a copy of a letter from the Officiating Director of Public Instruction, Bengal, in which a scheme is suggested for an alternative practical Entrance Examination, and to offer my opinion on the proposal.

2. The proposal made by Mr. Tawney is to institute an alternative Examination side by side with that at present held, with the view of giving candidates a training which may be of some practical use to them in after-life. This alternative Examination is to be compulsory for students seeking admission to the University Examinations in Engineering, optional for others; and the subjects suggested are :—

- I. Mathematics as at present.
- II. History and Geography as at present.
- III. The Elements of Physics.
- IV. The Elements of Chemistry.
- V. Mechanical Drawing.

3. I am strongly in favour of the object aimed at in Mr. Tawney's letter. Some early training of a practical nature is undoubtedly invaluable for lads who have to earn their livelihood by their own exertions, and, while an endeavour is made to give a liberal education, the future usefulness of what is learned should be always kept in view; but to have an alternative Examination is open to objection; for in many schools it would be found impracticable to carry on a double set of studies. Nor do I think this necessary to attain the object aimed at. A modification of the present scheme of studies would answer the purpose even better, since it would require all candidates, whether destined to be Engineers or not, to acquire a certain amount of this practical knowledge. I proceed to give in the sequel my idea as to how this arrangement could be effected.

4. The Mathematical Course at present in force cannot be much modified, except perhaps in Geometry, for which some more modern book might be set than Euclid. But practically no change would be made here.

5. On the other hand, the present History and Geography Course might be with advantage largely modified. The History of India may be retained, but it is not necessary for boys at the Entrance stage to be acquainted with the whole of English History of which at best they can acquire the merest smattering. If this branch of the subject is retained at all, the Course should be confined to the present century, and the same book might also be utilised as the text-book for English Literature. Moreover, much of what is important to Indian students in English History, namely, the relations between their own country and England, is found in a History of India, and if they desire to continue their studies in this direction they can do so after passing the Entrance Examination.

The present Geography Course is, in my opinion, much too wide. In political geography, it would be quite sufficient to require a knowledge of the Geography of India, and the neighbouring countries, and of the British Empire; and in Physical geography the most general outline of the causes of terrestrial phenomena.

6. Mr. Tawney does not include English as a separate subject, but would have the papers answered in that language, the Examiners allotting a certain proportion of marks for style. I think this part of his scheme is to be deprecated. In the first place, the Examiner, for example, in history, would be sure to confine nearly all his attention to the candidate's historical knowledge, and to treat the style as a secondary consideration. Again, though it is true that Englishmen do not learn English by the reading of their own classics, yet their acquisition of a foreign language is much facilitated by reading, and style may undoubtedly be vastly improved by the study of good models.

Nor must it be forgotten that teachers would, unconsciously perhaps but inevitably, neglect the accurate teaching of English, if it were dropped out of the curriculum as a formal subject.

While, however, retaining a regular English Examination, I should be inclined to make it as little technical as possible, an object which might very well be attained by abolishing the second English paper in the Entrance Examination, and, as already suggested, adopting the English History text-book as also the English Literature text-book. The present book (Edith Thompson's) would not be suitable for this purpose; part of Bright's History of England would be better. Great importance ought to be attached in that one English Literature paper to correctness of grammar, accuracy of expression, idiom and punctuation, and comparatively little to a knowledge of the technical rules of grammar and to the derivation of words.

7. The proposal under discussion takes no account of an oriental Vernacular or classic. This is to be regretted. However desirable it may be to encourage English learning and practical training, it cannot be the intention of the University to withdraw Indian students from a study of their own languages, which certainly would be the result of omitting them from the curriculum. One paper, however, would be quite enough for this subject, and the amount to be read might be considerably reduced.

8. In the remainder of the subjects proposed by Mr. Tawney I heartily agree. The only regret I have is that hygiene cannot be added, but this would probably make the Course too long. It is worth considering, however, whether Physics might not be made an alternative subject with hygiene.

As for Drawing, its importance can hardly be exaggerated. Not only does it act as a valuable training to the hand and eye, it becomes, to one who has a taste for it, throughout life a pleasant recreation after sheer brain labour, and would be a most enjoyable change to both pupil and teacher in the midst of a day of ordinary class-work. Most of the work, moreover, required for the subject could be done in school, and little home work would be necessary beyond what a boy's own inclination urged him to.

9. It would be important, of course, in modifying the course of study on the lines above suggested, not to increase the amount of work required of boys, seeing that the present course is as much as can be thoroughly mastered within the time allowed. The way I should propose to meet this difficulty will be seen from the following table, showing the various subjects as now proposed, compared with those prescribed in the present course :—

Mathematics	equal to present	Mathematics.
History and Geography	„ „	History.
Second Language and Translation	„ „	Geography.
Physics or Hygiene	„ „
Chemistry	„ „	English.
English	„ „	Second Language.
Drawing	„ „	Translation.

The papers would be thus distributed :—

Mathematics	2 papers.
History and Geography	1 paper.
Second Language and Translation	1 paper.
English	1 paper.
Physics (or Hygiene)	1 paper.
Chemistry	1 paper.
Drawing	1 paper.

10. The above is a general statement of my opinion on the proposal put forward by Mr. Tawney. I have not specified the text-books I should wish to see adopted, nor the quantity to be prescribed in each. Details of this kind would be more appropriately stated in a separate communication, should such be deemed necessary, in case the Syndicate take action in this matter.

To

THE REGISTRAR, CALCUTTA UNIVERSITY.

SIR,

In reply to your letter No. 667, dated the 7th July 1886, forwarding a letter addressed by the Offg. Director of Public Instruction to the Registrar of the Calcutta University, I have the honour to submit the following opinion.

The proposal that an alternative Entrance Examination should be held in the subjects referred to in the Offg. Director's letter is open to several objections. It is well known, that the Course prescribed for the Entrance Examination determines the character of study which students have to pursue from their earliest years. For three, four, or five years preceding the date of the Examination, the subjects of the Examination are regularly studied. If the new proposal is carried out, students, as well as the teaching Institutions, will begin to attend to Physics, and Chemistry and mechanical drawing and begin to neglect the languages, several years before the examination in the new style is actually held. Now I consider it very unreasonable that students, or their parents or other guardians should be compelled to elect a career so early in life. A boy of the age of 11, 12 or 13 is not in a position to decide as to the career he will select, nor can those responsible for his education discover at that age his bent, and attempt to shape his future in a final and determinate way. In the next place if a boy, after selecting the new course, discovers after his first unsuccessful attempt to pass the Entrance Examination, that he has made a mistake, it will be almost impossible for him to correct that mistake and qualify himself for the alternative course. If he should succeed in passing the Entrance Examination in the technical course, he would be practically excluded from pursuing a course of liberal education as prescribed by the Calcutta University, for he would not be in a position to compete on equal terms with students who had passed the Entrance Examination in the general course. Then again it seems to me that the Offg. Director's proposal is really of a disqualifying and not of an enabling nature. Under the present rules, a boy, who passes the Entrance Examination in the general course, is allowed to prosecute his studies in the Engineering College. The proposal contemplates the exclusion of such boys from the Engineering College, which will be open only to such students as pass the Entrance Examination in the technical course. I am of opinion, that this limitation of the rights of students will operate as a serious hardship and ought not to be sanctioned unless justified by grave necessity. It is perfectly true that the technical education given in an Engineering College will be better as the preliminary education of the boys in Mathematics, Physics, &c., is sounder. If the authorities of the Engineering College complain that the boys now admitted, lack the necessary preliminary training, especial examinations might be held for admission into that College. But to alter the scheme of the Entrance Examination would be not only to render the proceedings of our University cumbersome and anomalous, but would seriously interfere with the education and the prospects in life of the young men who attend schools and colleges. I fully appreciate the necessity of technical education in this province, but I do not see that it is the business of the University as such, to take in hand a complete course of technical education. The Engineering College at Sibpur is a Government Institution, affiliated to the University of Calcutta, and though it may make such rules as it thinks fit for admission of students, it has no right to thrust on the University a particular system of education. Several students at the present day who join the Engineering College after passing the Entrance Examination leave it when they find the work in that College to be disagreeable and irksome. They have no difficulty in joining one of the existing Colleges and reading for the First Examination in Arts. But students passing the Entrance Examination in the technical course would have no career open to them if they found by experience that they were unfit to pursue their studies in the Engineering College. A serious objection to the introduction of the alternative Entrance course appears to me to be the omission of languages, especially the English language from the examination. Now if English is to be the medium of instruction generally, it is desirable that the students should possess sufficient knowledge of the language, thoroughly to master the subjects they have to read. The knowledge of English possessed by the majority of our matriculated students is indeed so poor, that I fear the course of instruction imparted at the Sibpur Engineering College is already too difficult for them to master. Some years ago, if I mistake not, on the representation of the authorities of the Calcutta Medical College, to the effect, that the average matriculated students could not follow the lectures delivered in English at the Medical College, the University authorities raised the standard of admission to the Medical College. If the candidates for the Engineering College were not required to pass any examination at all in English, they would so far neglect that subject as to be thoroughly incapable of understanding any lecture delivered in English. The Officiating Director in his letter says, that "ordinary every-day English is acquired by Englishmen by conversation and the reading of novels and newspapers." This may be perfectly true as regards Englishmen. But this can never be true as regards native boys of 11, 12 or 13 who do not as a rule attain at that age such a knowledge of English as enables them to understand the language of novels and newspapers written in English. The native students have neither, moreover, the capacity nor the opportunity of learning English by conversation held in English. These are objections on principle. A practical objection having reference to details is, that it would be extremely difficult for students to master the new course and to get competent teachers. Physics and Chemistry where they have to be learnt at all, will have to be got up by rote, and surely that sort of education will not be a valuable preliminary training. The new course suggested is analogous to the course prescribed for Matriculation in the London University, and it has always been admitted, that that is a Course much too difficult for students preparing for the Entrance Examination in this country. On these grounds I strongly protest against the proposal to hold an alternative Entrance Examination in the technical course.

I think that the introduction of such an Examination is highly desirable, and that it would tend to encourage technical education in India and Ceylon.

I will not venture to make any remarks on the details of the scheme, beyond suggesting that the subject 'Physics' be made as practical as possible with a view to its utilization in the study of arts and manufactures.

SIR,

With reference to your office No. 667, dated the 7th July last, inviting expression of opinion on an alternative practical Entrance Examination, as proposed by the Officiating Director of Public Instruction, Bengal, I have the honour to say, though not without some diffidence, that my humble opinion on the scheme differs materially from the view taken by that high functionary; and that, on that very account, I consider it all the more imperative upon me to make a clear statement of my reasons in support of that opinion.

It will not, I am afraid, be expedient to accept the proposal to discard English and a second language altogether. A knowledge of these subjects, it may be contended, is not an indispensable aid to the cause of technical education; but it may with equal force be pointed out that Physics and Sanskrit are of no practical use to a student of Law, and yet there is no graduation in Law without previous graduation in Arts—apparently because the prestige of the University requires that a B. L. should not lack a general education as respectable as that of a B. A. Similarly technical students admitted into the University ought not to be men unable to pass through the test of the ordinary Entrance Examination, which (though some slight modifications might be proposed) could hardly be pronounced too exacting in its nature. There is hardly a respectable line of life in this country where a knowledge of English is not a necessity or, at all events, an advantage; and the best and surest way of acquiring that knowledge is a regular study of English literature. Historical and Geographical text-books will never give the required amount of knowledge; and the advantages arising out of conversation and the study of novels and newspapers, though sufficient for an Englishman acquiring a knowledge of his own mother-tongue, will hardly, if ever, be so great in this country as to dispense with the use of prescribed text-books. Natives of India, at least for some time to come, can hardly be expected to converse with their mothers and sisters in English, or to be talked to by their parents and brothers in the same language; and I do not know how many of them take to the study of novels and newspapers before passing the Entrance Examination. For the purpose of making technical education more popular than it is in this country, it is necessary that its prestige and respectability should not be lowered in any way; and I therefore take the liberty to suggest that admission into the technical department of the University should be made conditional on a tolerable knowledge of English, and a somewhat decent grounding in the student's mother-tongue. The introduction of Physics and Chemistry, to supplant English and a second language, does not seem necessary, for the study of those subjects may very well be postponed till after matriculation. Besides the innovation will only lead to the same vicious system of cramming in most Entrance schools as unfortunately prevails in M. E. and M. V. schools; for few of them can be expected to have at their command the appliances necessary for a practical study of those subjects. If they are to be introduced at all, and to take the place of the two languages, I must point out the necessity of making students passed in the alternative Examination inadmissible into the General Department, and this suggestion is made in the interests of the students themselves, as also of those gentleman who would have otherwise had to teach them in languages in which their strength has never been tested by the University. With respect to mechanical drawing, however, I am glad to be able to fully agree to the opinion of the late Offg. Director; but I think it should be made an alternative subject, either for English Grammar which, in my opinion, is made too much of in the case of candidates intended for the General Department, and will be hardly of any use to technical students, or for the subject of the first paper in languages other than English, for the critical study of a classical language is much less indispensable in their case than practice in the art of mechanical drawing. The subjects, then, that I would propose for the Entrance Examination are as follows :

1. English Literature.
2. (a) English Grammar and Composition (for general students).

or

- (b) Mechanical Drawing (for technical students).
3. Arithmetic and Algebra.
4. Geometry and Mensuration.
5. A second language.
6. Translation and Essay.
7. History.
8. Geography.

Or

SIR,

With reference to the proposed alternative practical Entrance Examination (alluded to in your letter No. 667, dated the 7th July 1886), it may not be unprofitable to examine briefly the advantages and disadvantages of such a scheme.

The proposed examination will certainly facilitate success with respect to boys who happen to be particularly backward in English and who value their success in the Entrance Examination only as it will give them access to a technical education. It will also render the examinees all the better fit for the study of Engineering in proportion as it is divested of a liberal character and made to assume a technical one.

These are about the only good results that can be expected to accrue from this examination, but the difficulties and inconveniences that it will create will more than counterbalance these few and small advantages.

Not to say anything about the questionable value of these advantages, the introduction of this examination will necessitate the appointment, in every higher class school, of additional men to teach chemistry and drawing which are comprised in the curriculum of the new examination, nay, which may, indeed, be said to form its distinctive features. Now on account of the meagreness of the resources of most municipal schools this will lead to a perfunctory, if not an inaccurate, teaching of these subjects. This objection would not weigh much if the adoption of such a course recommended itself strongly on other grounds. But we have already seen that it will prove helpful to those boys alone who may wish to adopt Engineering as a profession after passing the Entrance Examination. Such boys, it will be seen, represent so insignificant a fraction of the whole number of Entrance candidates that we shall not be justified in adopting, solely for the benefit of the former, a measure that will work as a hardship upon the majority of Entrance candidates, and the entire body of municipal H. C. E. Schools.

Finally, in spite of the comparative uselessness of the critical study of English classics as a factor in enabling native students to speak and write modern English correctly, it must be allowed that a student will be none the worse for the little stock of literary knowledge that he may bring to the prosecution of a technical study.

So, in view of these facts, while admitting the utility of such a scheme, I beg leave to think that its adoption may be deferred till there is a greater demand for technical education in the country, and till we have a larger number of graduates competent to impart scientific knowledge at a cheap rate in the mutasaf schools.

SIR,

In reply to your No. 667, dated the 7th July, 1886, I have the honour to state that I should be very glad to see an alternative Entrance Examination established side by side with the present Examination on the lines proposed by Mr. Tawney. Students entering the University by the alternative Examination would probably have some difficulty in passing in a second language in the F. A. They would certainly be burdensome to lecturers in Latin, Persian, and Sanskrit, and the Staffs of our Colleges are already over-taxed in having to provide the new Honour Lectures for the B. A. Perhaps the Syndicate may think fit to let them take up some practical subject in lieu of second language.

Dated Calcutta, the 21st September, 1886.

SIR,

With reference to your No. 667, dated the 7th July last, forwarding for an expression of opinion copy of a letter from the Offg. Director of Public Instruction suggesting a scheme for an alternative practical Entrance Examination, I have the honor to state my views on the subject.

The opinion seems to be that the present Entrance course is difficult and not well suited for technical education, and the object of the new course is to provide such a training as would be most convenient for science pupils. Theoretically much may be said in favour of this plan; but I am humbly of opinion that practically it will not be useful. As matters now stand, law and medicine go under the head of Literature, and Civil Engineering is the only branch which would come under the purview of the new course. But Civil Engineering as a Collegiate course assumes a course of liberal education and no course can pretend to be liberal which places literature at a discount. In so far Civil Engineering may be excluded; and we must look to technical, industrial and mechanical arts for occupation for those who are to take up the proposed parallel course. But no single scheme of training can be devised for such a purpose.

Technical instruction is a very wide field, embracing such widely divergent subjects as architecture and the veterinary art. An Entrance Examination that would be a good preparation for technical instruction in some particular branch, would be a bad preparation for instruction in another. If the idea of giving a preliminary practical training were to be carried out to its farthest logical consequences, there ought to be several instead of a single Entrance Examination of a practical character. Even in the Offg. Director's letter, I may add it is proposed to make the practical Entrance test compulsory for admission to the University Examinations in Engineering only. Its special fitness for intending law students is certainly not by any means apparent. An Entrance Examination, in my humble judgment, should demand such knowledge as would be of use in after life to as large a proportion as possible of the candidates who attend such Examination. In this view, it seems to me that the course of reform should lie in the direction of making the present Entrance Examination more practical in its character than of the establishing an alternative examination. For this end the omission of technical subjects, is what appears to me to be most needed; but as the question of a reform of the present Entrance course is now not before me, I shall not say anything about it here.

The first question to settle for a technical course, is the medium of education. I am emphatically of opinion, and this for obvious reasons, that the Entrance Examination for such a course should be in the vernacular of the pupils. A comparatively costly English education, and one extending over a good many years would be a great loss of money and time, which too has money value, to the great majority of those Indians who want to get their living by practising any of the lower technical arts. In the higher arts of Law, Medicine, and Engineering indeed an English education must for a long time yet to come, form a necessary basis. For the lower arts, however, an English basis would be disastrous. Deficient knowledge of English, I may here add, has been found to be a drag on the Indian students in the Engineering College. The Indian students who join this College are generally not among those who stand high in the Entrance Examination, and are therefore not well up in English, and so they lag behind their Anglo-Indian fellow students, whose vernacular is English. The Offg. Director's scheme, discarding as it does the Indian vernaculars altogether, contrasts very unfavourably with the present Entrance course. In any Entrance course that may be adopted, the Indian vernaculars should by all means hold their place.

I would object to drawing being made compulsory in all schools. It should be confined only to such students as purpose taking up some branch of technical instruction in which a knowledge of drawing would be of use. It appears from the Offg. Director's letter that Germany is the only European country in which drawing is made a part of general education. But Germany is educationally the most advanced country in the world. It would be too early now for backward India to think of following in the footsteps of Germany in respect of drawing, while countries, so nearly on a level with Germany as England and France, have not been able to approach her. The Offg. Director's letter appears indeed not to insist on drawing as an indispensable subject for his alternative Entrance course. The amount of preliminary tuition too should vary according to subjects. An architect requires a much higher preliminary training than a journeyman stonewasher, and one cast iron pattern for all cannot but prove mischievous, and will deter people from taking such technical education instead of attracting them.

DEAR SIR,

I think that it will be a great mistake in the interests of true education to allow University candidates to omit English from the Entrance standard subjects. Technical subjects should have their place in Art or Technical Schools, and if the Calcutta Syndicate mix up Technical subjects with the subjects which I think belong to a University at such an early stage as the Entrance standard, I cannot think that the interests of true education which tends to develop the mind and intellect will be promoted by allowing candidates to drop a study, which includes so much Western culture and thought, for the sake of any technical subject. I fail to see that the smattering of English conveyed by History and Geography can in any way make up for the omission of English thought and literature conveyed by the study of a really good text-book.

Yours truly,

A. G. NORMAN.

THE REGISTRAR OF THE CALCUTTA

UNIVERSITY.

Dated, Bauleah the 12th August 1886.

SIR,

With reference to your letter No. 667 dated the 7th ultimo asking for my opinion on a scheme for an alternative practical Entrance Examination, I have the honour to submit the following remarks:

1. Attaching, as the people of this country do, a great importance to all the Examinations of the Calcutta University, there is no doubt that they will take a keen interest in any alternative course, which may be established side by side with the existing Entrance Examination, and the institution of a practical Entrance Course is therefore, I think, likely to give a great stimulus to technical instruction in this Province.

2. For a student who contemplates obtaining for himself the liberal education, that a University Degree is supposed to indicate, I do not think that the limited knowledge of English now required for the Entrance Examination would be at all more than sufficient to enable him to follow a higher course of technical or scientific instruction with any benefit. A knowledge of English may be acquired by English students in the way mentioned in the Director's letter, but not by native students, who in my opinion must always have a regular training in it. Were English omitted from the alternative Entrance Course, it would, I think, be necessary to open more special courses, excluding English, in the higher University Examinations, for those students who prefer to follow different branches of technical and scientific study—a measure, which perhaps it might be advisable to adopt in any case. I would propose, however, that English should be made a compulsory subject in the alternative Entrance Course, by which arrangement the candidates that passed in it would be enabled to go on with the Arts Course, if they wished to do so.

3. The addition of English as a compulsory subject in the new Course, would necessitate its curtailment in some other respect. I would therefore strike out Physical Geography and modify the Course as noted below.

I.	English (as at present)	...	2 Papers.
II.	Mathematics (as at present)	...	2 Papers.
III.	History and General Geography	...	1 Paper.
IV.	Science, embracing the elements of Physics and of Chemistry	...	2 Papers.
V.	Mechanical Drawing	...	1 Paper.
Total			8 Papers.

It will be seen that according to this scheme, there would be eight Papers on the whole as at the present Entrance Examination.

4. Besides the class of students, who are desirous of, or suited for a University education in the ordinary sense of the words, I believe that there would be many students from the lower middle and lower classes, who in attending classes for technical instruction would do so with a view to being able to earn their livelihood at an earlier period and at a less outlay than those students who go through a University Course.

I am of opinion therefore that there should also be a separate Examination for students attending technical schools, of a more final nature than the University Entrance Examination, which can only be regarded as a commencement of a higher course of study, and that at such Examination certificates should be granted vouching only for a certain proficiency in different arts and industries, and not in the attainments of a more general education.

I have the honour to be,

SIR,

Your most obedient Servant,

A. C. EDWARDS,

202. Read a letter from the Principal, Agra College, enquiring on what principle the State Scholarship was awarded.

RESOLVED—

That the following reply be sent to the Principal, Agra College.

SIR,

I have the honour by direction of the Syndicate to acknowledge receipt of your No. 163 of 1886-87, dated the 29th October, 1886, and in reply to state that the Syndicate consider that they have no authority to call on the Committee and the late Vice-Chancellor to explain the grounds on which the recent election to the State Scholarship was made.

I am, however, to point out that the election was made this year under the temporary rule. A copy of the rules as finally approved by the Government of India is herewith enclosed for your information.

203. Read letters from the Inspector-General of Education, C. P., recommending that Jabbalpur be made a centre for holding the B. A. Examination in addition to Nagpur.

ORDERED—

That the Registrar inform the Inspector-General of Education, Central Provinces, that the Syndicate are not prepared at present to make Jabbalpur a centre for holding the B. A. Examination.

204. Read the following extract from a letter addressed to the Registrar by the Superintendent of the Baptist Mission Press.

“With regard to your suggestion that the size of the book might be reduced if a smaller type were used, I would remark that by using Long Primer instead of Small Pica for the body of the work, the number of pages would probably be reduced by one-fifth, and if in addition to this, we were allowed to alter the plan of the work, and instead of the wide margin for notes, were to “indent” the notes there would be a probable further saving of another fifth—speaking roughly, the total saving from both these causes especially if I be allowed to put three or four lines more on each page, might enable us to reduce the bulk of the book to nearly one half.

“I send a specimen of what I mean by “indenting” the notes, and as we should use thicker (antique) type for the notes than used in the text, they would probably be sufficiently prominent. The specimen pages are from an edition of Mr. Prinsep’s Criminal Procedure Code. I do not recommend it as a sample as it is too cramped and with too small a margin.

“I propose to increase the width of the printed matter of the Tagore Lectures from about $3\frac{1}{4}$ inches to $4\frac{1}{2}$ inches, and as the text will be leaded as in the Tagore Lectures already printed, the pages will not appear as cramped and crowded as in Prinsep.

“I should have to increase my charge from Rs. 3 per page for 1000 copies to Rs. 3-6 or possibly Rs. 3-8 for the wider measure and smaller type, but even with this addition the saving in the cost will be considerable; for instance, to take the Joint Hindu Family, the total number of pages is 762—762 pages at Rs. 3 = Rs. 2,286. Assuming the decrease in the number of pages to be only two-fifths, we shall have 457 pages at say Rs. 3-8 = Rs. 1,599 or a saving on the entire edition of about Rupees 680 to be divided between the University and the author; I believe, however, it would be considerably more.”

RESOLVED—

That the proposals of the Superintendent, Baptist Mission Press, be adopted.

205. Read an endorsement from the Principal, Metropolitan Institution, forwarding a petition from Harendralal Basu, a candidate who appeared in the last M. A. Examination in English, in which he complains of having been plucked in Comparative Grammar, a subject in which he "had no chance of failure."

ORDERED—

That the Registrar inform the Principal, Metropolitan Institution, that the Syndicate have enquired into the matter, and see no grounds for altering the decision arrived at.

206. Read a letter from the Assistant Registrar asking for privilege leave for three months on full pay from the 1st January, 1887.

RESOLVED—

That the Assistant Registrar be allowed leave on full pay from the 15th of January till the 1st March, if the Registrar can make arrangements for carrying on his duties during his absence.

207. Read a letter from the Principal, Edwardes' Church School, Peshawar, requesting that Peshawar may again be made a centre for holding the Entrance Examination.

ORDERED—

That the Registrar send the Principal, Edwardes' Church School, Peshawar, a copy of the letter of the Director of Public Instruction, Panjab, on the subject (Minutes 1884-85, p. 55) and inform him that the Syndicate do not think it desirable to accede to his request.

208. Read a letter from Mr. J. H. Gilliland, Examiner at the recent Premchand Examination (whose papers were set for a previous Examination, but not given out) requesting to be remunerated under the new scale.

ORDERED—

That the Registrar pay Mr. Gilliland and Mr. Booth the difference between the remuneration they have received under the old scale, and that fixed by the new scale for Premchand Studentship Examiners.

212. The following report of the Sub-Committee appointed by the Senate at their meeting on the 25th of September 1886, having been circulated to all the members of the Senate, was taken as read.

REPORT.

"We, the undersigned members of the Sub-Committee appointed by the Senate to enquire what would be the probable cost of reporting and printing the proceedings of the Senate, and to make suggestions as to what the exact duties of the official reporter should be, have the honour to submit our report.

“We are of opinion that we can obtain the services of a competent reporter for Rs. 25 a meeting. We understand that the Calcutta Corporation has recently sanctioned the payment of Rs. 25 to the Statesman newspaper for a report of each General meeting by its own reporter, and that this is accepted as an official report. Assuming that there are on an average six meetings of the Senate in the year, the annual cost of reporting will therefore be about Rs. 150.

“The report of each general meeting in the year will cover about 20 pages on the Proceedings. Assuming a cost of Rs. 2-2-0 per page, the total cost of printing per annum may be roughly estimated at Rs. 255. The engagement of an official reporter will, therefore, entail on the University an additional annual cost of Rs. 405. In this calculation we have neglected the probable additional cost of postage once a year when the Minutes are distributed to the Fellows of the University.

“There is no doubt that the finances of the University can easily bear the expenditure which the engagement of an official reporter would entail.

“We recommend that the reports of the official reporter be in each case corrected by the Registrar and approved by the Chairman before being printed in the Proceedings.

“H. J. S. COTTON,

“CHARLES H. TAWNEY,

“O. C. DUTT,

“Members of the Sub-Committee.”

Mr. H. J. S. Cotton moved that the report of the Sub-Committee be adopted, and that the Registrar be instructed to give effect to it.

Dr. Mahendralal Sarkar, C. I. E. seconded the motion, which was carried.

213. Mr. Tawney then moved—

That an alternative Entrance Examination be not introduced, but the present examination be so modified as to include the elements of Physics and Chemistry, and that a certain portion of the course in Geography and Physical Geography be omitted.

Dr. Mahendralal Sarkar seconded the motion.

Mr. H. J. S. Cotton then proposed the following amendment:

That the word "but" and all the words subsequent thereto be omitted from the question.

Nawab Abdul Latif Khan Bahadur, C. I. E. seconded this amendment, which was put to the vote and lost.

Mr. A. W. Croft then proposed the following amendment:

That the words "at present" be inserted after the word "introduced," that the words "and Chemistry and that a certain portion of the Course in Geography and Physical Geography be omitted" be left out of the question, and that the words "and that an optional Examination in Drawing be instituted" be added to the question.

J. J. B. Coles, Esq. seconded this amendment which was put to the vote and lost.

Mr. A. M. Bose then proposed the following amendment:

That all the words after the word "introduced" be left out of the question, and that the following words be substituted for them, "at present and that the question of including the elements of Physics, Chemistry and Drawing in the Entrance Examination be referred to the special Committee now sitting with regard to that Examination."

This amendment was put to the vote and carried.

The amended motion was then put to the vote and carried.

214. The following report of the Committee appointed by the Senate at their meeting on the 26th of June having been circulated to all the members of the Senate, was taken as read.

REPORT.

"We, the undersigned members of the Committee appointed by the Senate at their meeting on the 26th June 1886, to carry out the wishes of Her Highness the Begum of Bhopal with regard to her donation of Rs. 7,200 for the purpose of sending a Muhammadan student to England to study either Law or Medicine, have the honour to submit the following report.

“We held our first meeting on the 21st August and after considering the merits of the candidates from whom applications had been received, resolved in order that the amount, conditions, and object of the scholarship should be known as widely as possible, to recommend to the Syndicate that the following advertisement should be inserted in the leading journals of Calcutta and Allahabad.

“‘The Committee appointed to elect a scholar on Her Highness the Begum of Bhopal’s foundation will proceed to elect one in the month of November. All applications should reach the office of the Registrar on or before the 1st of November. All applicants must be under 23 years of age and graduates of the Calcutta University. By the terms of the foundation, the scholar must be a Muhammadan, and will be required on election to proceed to England to study either Law or Medicine.’

“This advertisement was inserted accordingly by the Registrar on the order of the Syndicate.

“By the 1st of November applications from 12 candidates had reached the office of the Registrar. One of these applications was subsequently withdrawn.

“We held our second meeting on Friday, the 26th of November.

“After considering carefully the age, circumstances, and academical careers of the various candidates, we determined to award the scholarship to Abdur Rahim, B. A. of the Presidency College, Calcutta.

“It only remains for us to state the manner in which we desire that the scholarship should be paid.

“We recommend that the Registrar should pay the scholar Rs. 600 on his taking his passage for England, and that subsequent payments should be made as follows :

“The Registrar should transmit the equivalent of Rs. 2000 to the scholar annually in four quarterly payments. These remittances should, if possible, be timed so as to arrive on or about the English quarter-days. But no such payment should be made without the submission by the candidate to the Registrar of a certificate of good conduct signed by the Secretary of the Northbrook Indian Society.

“Finally, with the last quarterly payment the equivalent of Rs. 600 should be forwarded to the scholar in order to defray the expenses of his return passage.

“AMEER ALI,
“SYUD AMEER HOSSEIN, “SERAJ-UL ISLAM,
“ABDUL JUBBAR,

“Members.

“The 26th November, 1886.”

Nawab Abdul Latif, Khan Bahadur, C I. E., moved that the report be adopted.

225. The Senate was convened for the purpose of conferring degrees.

The Members of the Senate (in academic costume) assembled at 2-45 p. m. in the Senate House, College Square.

At 3 p. m. the Hon'ble the Vice-Chancellor and the Fellows proceeded to the Entrance Hall to receive His Excellency the Chancellor.

On the arrival of His Excellency they formed a procession in the following order, and entered the Hall :—

The Registrar.

Members of the Syndicate.

HIS EXCELLENCY THE CHANCELLOR.

THE HON'BLE THE VICE-CHANCELLOR.

† Ex-Officio Fellows.

Remaining Members of the Senate.

The Hon'ble the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal and the Hon'ble the Chief Justice of Bengal occupied seats on the dais to the right of the Chancellor and to the left of the Vice-Chancellor.

The * Ex-Officio Fellows and the Members of the Syndicate occupied seats on the dais

The remaining Members of the Senate occupied seats to the right and left of the dais.

The Vice-Chancellor, having declared the Convocation opened, called upon the Registrar to read the names of Candidates for Degrees.

When the names had been read,† each Candidate for a Degree was presented to the Vice-Chancellor by the Principal of the College at which he had studied, or by the President of his Faculty, in the following form :—

* Ex-Officio Fellows The Hon'ble the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal, The Hon'ble the Lieutenant-Governor, North-Western Provinces, The Hon'ble the Lieutenant Governor of the Punjab, the Hon'ble the Chief Justice of Bengal, The Most Revd the Lord Bishop of Calcutta, His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief of the Forces in India, G C B, C I E, The Hon'ble Sir T. C. Hope, K C S I, C I E, The Hon'ble Sir Auckland Colvin, K C M G, C I E, General the Hon'ble Geo. Charney, R E, C S I, C I E, The Hon'ble James Branthwaite, Esq, M A, C S I

† The names of Candidates for Degrees having been printed and circulated to the Fellows, were taken as read considered to ignore or overlook the past if I express the hope that not only those efforts will be continued, but that this University will go still further afield, and will eventually proceed to cultivate ground which hitherto has been only imperfectly tilled. You, gentlemen, as representatives of the enlightenment of modern India, are not only bound to direct the efforts of your fellow-countrymen towards the study of literature, of law, and of medicine, but it is also incumbent upon you to turn your attention to the development of those scientific pursuits upon which the material prosperity of every nation so much depends, and which are such essential characteristics of that civilization which is being so rapidly assimilated by the people of this country. I have learned with satisfaction that the changes, which after due deliberation have been introduced into the courses of this University, have amply fulfilled the expectations of those who inaugurated them. Those changes have all been in the direction of greater thoroughness. That is entirely as it should be. Thoroughness ought to be the watchword inscribed over the doors of every temple of learning, for believe me that, although pedantry may be excused in such an institution as this, anything approaching to dilettantism can only be regarded as the sign of irretrievable deterioration. Consequently I again repeat to you that, whatever else you do, be careful that your system is thorough. That it has now become so is, I believe admitted, and it is a source of pride to all of us to know that those gentlemen who have passed before me to-day are able to go away with the conviction that they have received a sound and thorough education, and that they have won their diplomas by dint of untiring industry and application. But, however, thorough may be your system, it is also desirable in a certain sense that it should be catholic, and in a certain sense extensive, and I am glad to think that, under the auspices of this Convocation, favourable conditions have been created for the promotion of female education. It must have given us all the greatest pleasure to see those two ladies approach the Vice-Chancellor and receive at his hands their diplomas, which they may justly regard as a source of honour to themselves and to every one connected with them. Gentlemen, I will not longer detain you, I will simply congratulate you upon the continued proofs which every year exhibits of the wholesome influence you exercise over the various collegiate and other educational establishments in India, while at the same time I express the hope that from year to year your efforts may be ever crowned with increasing and permanent success. I now call upon the Vice-Chancellor to address the Convocation.

The Hon'ble the Vice-Chancellor then addressed the Senate and Graduates as follows :—

YOUR EXCELLENCY THE CHANCELLOR, MEMBERS OF THE SENATE, AND GRADUATES OF THE UNIVERSITY OF CALCUTTA, —I had hoped that we should have been privileged to-day to listen at greater length to the counsels of a Statesman whose eloquence has adorned many high posts in America, Europe, and Asia. But, my Lord, you have laid your command upon me to address the present Convocation, and however much I may regret this decision for the sake of my fellow-members of the University, I cheerfully obey Your Excellency's order. For surely no man can look down on this hall, filled with the educated youth of Northern India on the eve of their start in life, without being glad of an opportunity of wishing them God-speed, and of saying to them such words of encouragement and comfort as may be found in him. There is, however, another thought even more insistent at this moment in my mind. For standing amid the senators and dignitaries of this great seat of learning, I cannot help asking myself, how far have this University, and the system of education which it represents, fitted these young men for their work in life.

That is a question which has caused much heart-searching during the past year. Judged, indeed, by the outward and material results, there could be no question whatever. In 1861, just a quarter of a century ago, this University, then a homeless body-corporate, held its Entrance Examination intents upon the hot open plain. Its examinations for the degree of Bachelor of Arts were conducted in a borrowed chamber, disturbed one day by a concert-company on the floor above, and on another day by the settling up of the Calcutta races in the next room. In that year it passed its first Master of Arts. The tents on the open plain have grown into this spacious hall: the graduates have advanced from tens to hundreds, and from hundreds to thousands. This year, the numbers made another leap forward. The candidates for the Entrance Examination reached their highest point, within a few units of 4,400. The candidates for the degree of Bachelor of Arts were more than double the number in the preceding year. The number of Masters of Arts were also double the number in 1885.

Judged, therefore, by the test of figures, or by this stately Senate House with its lofty ceilings and marble statues, the career of the University has been wholly prosperous. But the true results of a great spiritual influence upon a people cannot be gauged by statistics alone, or by any outward magnificence in stone or lime. The Calcutta University stands not only as the door by which the educated classes in this country pass into the professions; but also as a barrier at their entrance into practical life. In England, the young doctor, the young engineer, the young lawyer, have many pathways into their future vocations besides the Universities. In India, a youth has, with few exceptions, to qualify himself for his profession, whether medicine, or civil engineering, or teaching, or the law, in an institution affiliated to a University, by a course of study to a large extent regulated by the University standards, and tested by the University examinations. The Calcutta University guides in this way the higher education of over 120 millions of people (more than Gibbon's estimate of the whole population of the Roman Empire), in ninety-eight affiliated colleges and schools.

Such a system of Public Instruction has to work from above; and not, as in countries where education has slowly developed on popular lines, from below. One of its sources of incompleteness is, that, unless very carefully and very intelligently watched, it fails to keep touch with the changing practical needs of the people. This peril of Public Instruction in India, has been powerfully realised by our present Viceroy. The great economic necessity of India is to find food for an increasing pent-up population, by opening new fields of industry, and by rendering the national labour more productive in the old fields. Europe has had to deal with the same difficulty; and one of the most effective remedies adopted by European States is technical education. The need of such instruction is most painfully clear to us in India, where all engineering and even mechanical labour above a certain class has hitherto had to be imported from a distant continent at a great cost. But the problem is a much larger one. The truth is that India is at this moment in the midst of an industrial revolution of unexampled rapidity and magnitude. It is passing before our eyes from the old-world domestic industries of the handloom and the forest-forge, to the modern developments of industrial co-operation, the cotton-mill, the coal-mine, and the steam-foundry. It is to fit India to play her part as a great industrial country in this new era, that Lord Dufferin's proposals for a system of technical education are designed.

But although the need of technical education is peculiarly apparent in India, the difficulties are unusually great. For in the first place, the staple trade of India is agriculture; and while this is a branch of industry in which improvement is much required, it is also one in which improvement has, in every country, proved slowest. In the second place, technical education costs money; and the Government of India has at present little money to spare. Indeed, during the past year, the educational authorities have been struggling to preserve the sums already allotted, rather than hoping for additional grants. Anxious as I am to see technical education extended throughout India, I should deeply regret if the funds were obtained for it by crippling our present educational work. This University receives no grant whatever from the State. It can therefore, without fear of misconstruction, raise its warning voice against the introduction of any new scheme, however promising, at the cost of established schemes which have proved their practical usefulness.

But having said this, I wish also to add that I believe a way can be found out of the difficulty, and that technical education will before long become an integral part of Public Instruction in India. The immense economic value of the measures now contemplated by Lord Dufferin will then be realised. It will be seen that the joint effect of the policy of the present and of the late Viceroy is to develop Indian education into a complete and perfect whole. As the aim of Lord Ripon was to make broad the foundations, to secure the progress of the higher and the lower schools at a more equal pace, and to expand a departmental system of Public Instruction into a system of truly national education; so the educational aim of Lord Dufferin is to bring that system into accord with the industrial necessities of modern Indian life.

This University has not been slow to consider by what methods it can most effectively help the good work. To some of us it seemed that by an expansion of the subjects prescribed for the Entrance Examination, we could give an impulse to the preliminary branches of instruction, on which a sound technical education might subsequently be based. But the majority of the Senate decided, and I think decided wisely, to adopt a course which still leaves the question open. For until the University sees provision made for the thorough teaching of new subjects, it would only encourage superficiality, if it were to institute examinations in those subjects.

Shortly after the Government issued its Resolution on technical education, the head of an engineering college showed me a letter from a municipal schoolmaster to the following effect: "Sir, the Committee of this school desire to introduce technical instruction. They are anxious to obtain from your college a thoroughly qualified young engineer, who will teach the sciences and their practical application. Salary Rs. 40 per mensem. Please supply." Educated labour is cheap in India. But not even in India can a young man be found, thoroughly qualified to teach the whole circle of the arts and sciences, on Rs. 10 a month.

If, therefore, the State determines to introduce technical education on any adequate scale, it must deliberately face this question of the cost. Meanwhile I welcome every sign of the people taking up the question for themselves. Nor are such signs wanting. Even from the backward province of Sind, we hear of a college sending to England for a highly trained professor of science. In Calcutta, we see two of the returned Bengali students from Cirencester setting up a school without any aid from the State, to combine general education with skilled instruction in agriculture. At Midnapur and other rural centres, efforts are being made to engraft technical education upon the existing scholastic course. What may be the individual fate of these efforts it is premature to predict. But the spirit is moving among the people. Of one thing I feel sure, that if the Government will do its part, the liberality of the people will not be wanting. What India now requires, is not additional State education, but additional State aid to local effort.

This year we have had fresh proofs that the old beneficence of India is being more and more diverted from eleemosynary to educational objects. I would mention as a single instance in a neighbouring district, the elevation of the Naral High School to a First Arts College; entirely effected by local effort. The example of State liberality to education opens up a hundred springs of private munificence.

Last autumn the first Government Scholar, nominated by this University, was sent home for a complete course of study at Oxford or Cambridge. But hardly had this gentleman been selected, than we had also to elect another scholar to proceed to England for three years to study Law or Medicine, on the princely foundation of Her Highness the Begum of Bhopal. I feel confident that if the Government now sees its way to set the example of liberality to technical education, local effort and private beneficence will do their part.

But in a great movement there is something more inspiring and more effective even than local effort and private beneficence: and that is the united munificence of a people. I cannot forget that this is the Jubilee Year of our gracious Sovereign, the Queen-Empress. It will be rendered memorable in every distant part of Her Majesty's great Empire, not alone by towering edifices and by monuments in marble and bronze, but also by the establishment of many institutions destined to benefit future generations. I shall rejoice if it is put into the hearts of the people of India to devote a part of their commemoration fund to placing technical education upon a secure and permanent basis. For I know of no other way in which they can confer so great a benefit on India, or so surely give their children and their children's children cause to bless this auspicious year of a long and most glorious reign.

I have dwelt at some length on a very practical aspect of education, for this University is to the great multitude of its youth the doorway into the practical professions. But education has also another object, and I do not forget the motto which we bear upon our seal. New graduates of the University, examine the diplomas which you have this day received, and you will find impressed on each parchment the words, THE ADVANCEMENT OF LEARNING. I well know that to most of you, the education of your youth must be the bread-winner of your life. But there are many among you who will have leisure to advance learning themselves, and many who will have ample means to assist in its advancement by others. I trust, too, and believe that in some of your souls there burns that sacred fire, that love of learning for its own sake, that desire for intellectual fame, and that hereditary talent for literary work, which made India an illuminated continent upon the map of the ancient world, and which neither poverty nor the hard struggle of this modern age can quench.

To such among you I would say, that I envy the splendid possibilities now within your reach. If I were asked, in what position has a young man at this moment the best chance of winning a great and enduring reputation by literary work, I would answer, as a graduate of one of our Indian Universities. For in no other country that I know of, are such masses of literary work waiting for the worker. Take the fundamental question of the origin of the Indian people, and you will find European scholarship at a standstill for want of local Indian research. Philology has wrung from Sanskrit its secrets concerning the early migrations of mankind. But into that still more marvellous world of prehistoric human movement represented by the Non-Aryan elements in Indian speech, European scholars at this moment find no further thoroughfare.

So strongly was this felt at the Oriental Congress at Vienna last autumn, that a scheme was drawn up and has been urged upon the Indian Government, to organise a systematic survey of this dark terra incognita. And I grieve to add, that when the authors of that scheme looked round for men who would help them to do the actual work, their eyes fell not upon the graduates of our Indian Universities, but upon the gurus and pandits and teachers of indigenous schools, trained upon the old Indian methods, and inured to the ancient honourable poverty of the Indian man of letters. I sincerely trust that some among you will yet prove to Europe, that a new class of intellectual workers has arisen in India, better equipped, and not less patient of labour, than the old.

If your bent is towards literature rather than scholarship, what unexplored regions stretch before you! The popular song of India is, for the most part, still a sealed book to Europe. Or rather it is not a book at all, for it has never been reduced to writing. The ascertained religious poetry of a single sect in Northern India amounts to half a million of verses. How much more there may be of it, we know not; for it exists only in the memories and the mouths of the people. Or take the mediæval literature of Lower Bengal lying around us. What would the historian not give for a complete English edition of the works of your Makunda Rām Chakravarti! That single Bengali poet furnishes a more life-like picture of the actual working of the Muhammadan Government in Bengal, with more curious details regarding the delta in the sixteenth century, its river-routes and shifting fluvial channels, than can be found in the great statistical survey of the Emperor Akbar. But, indeed, it matters not what branch of vernacular literature you take up. Towards whatever quarter you set sail, there are new Americas to discover. If there is any worker among you, who fears not poverty and who loves fame, he may accomplish a most memorable achievement, and stand forth as the interpreter of mediæval Bengal to the Western world. Believe me, this University will know how to honour such a man. And it will feel a nobler pride in his labours, than in the richest material success or the highest official distinctions which may reward more lucrative careers.

The need of new workers is great at present, for the illustrious workers of the past are one by one being taken away. A few of them, like Brian Houghton Hodgson in England and Pandit Vidyasagara in Bengal, those brightest lights in the firmament of Northern Indian research, still shine. But they shine low down on the horizon: and the other stars with which they climbed the zenith are set. Since the last week of 1885, the University has lost several distinguished members. Mr. Locke's death deprived us of a genuine lover of Indian art. In Dr. Chandra Kumar Dé, we lost a true man of science, whose translations from the German have won for him a place in European medical literature. By the decease of Raja Harendra Krishna, the University has been deprived of an enlightened friend of education. But chiefly we lament the loss of Babu Prasanna Kumar Sarvadhikari—the erudite Principal of the Sanskrit College, the conscientious custodian and spirited defender of its precious manuscripts, the ingenious mathematician who transplanted the arithmetic and algebra of Europe into the vernacular of Bengal.

The loss of such men makes us look anxiously to the quality of the rising generation of graduates, who will in due time fill the places left vacant by death. We therefore view with satisfaction the fact that while our undergraduates have increased in number, there is also a more strongly marked tendency among them to pursue their studies to the final goals. In 1886, there were 869 candidates for the degree of Bachelor of Arts, against 428 in 1885. One hundred and twenty of them passed with honors, as against 52 honours-men in the previous year: while 70 gentlemen proceeded to the degree of Master of Arts as compared with 31 in 1885. This sudden increase is due chiefly to temporary causes; although certain of its best features may, in part, be the result of the new system of dividing the B. A. Examinations into a Pass and an Honours Examination in each subject. We do not expect that our present numbers will be maintained. For we hope this year to see the establishment of a new University at Allahabad, which will derive its alumni from the youth in the North-Western Provinces, who have hitherto entered the Calcutta University. There is ample room for both: and we shall heartily welcome our younger sister. The time has come when North-Western India may justly claim that its higher education shall be guided and fostered by a University of its own.

University culture carries with it in this country, at present, very distinct moral obligations. A struggle is going on in India between old customs and new ideas, such as the world has not seen since the breaking up of the Roman Empire. Your social institutions, your domestic relations, are being re-examined from new moral stand-points. The questions which agitated Indian society in the last generation were questions of caste and creed. The question which the present generation has to settle, is the position of woman. For it is perceived by external nations, and to a large extent realised by yourselves, that the condition of women in modern India has not kept pace with the rapid general progress. Child-marriage, the enforced penitential celibacy of widows, the difficulty of educating a girl population which is snatched away from school at the age of ten or twelve, and consigned to the seclusion and the cares of oriental wedded life,—these are the pressing problems which you, young men, will have, each in his own house, to solve.

And you will have to solve these problems with little aid from outsiders. The status of the Hindu woman has its roots so deep in Hindu law, in Hindu religion, in the necessities of the hard life of the poor, and in the hereditary sentiment of the refined and chivalrous classes, as to defy all direct interference from without. This University is doing what it can to help you indirectly, by cordially throwing open its examinations to women. Last year, 23 female students passed the Entrance Examinations, or just double those in 1885; four passed the First Arts; and three took the degree of Bachelor of Arts, one of them for the first time with Honours. Women are coming forward to the University in increasing numbers; they are thoroughly in earnest; and as a rule they are well prepared. Another movement on the side of progress is the noble organisation set on foot by the greatest lady in the land, to bring female medical aid within reach of the women of India. That movement is calling into existence a body of highly trained women, devoted to one of the most sacred of human employments, the healing art. Influences will thus be brought into action which must affect powerfully, although indirectly, the popular view of the capacities and the rights of women. But if you, in this generation, desire to see woman in India rise to her modern place as the free and intelligent helpmate of man, the main effort must be made by yourselves.

For that effort, and for the many other struggles, practical, social, and political, which assuredly lie before you, the system of education which this University represents has armed you with a powerful weapon. The one branch of knowledge which the University makes compulsory, is the English language. Each of you has selected such additional subjects as he pleased, but a thorough study of English has been demanded from you all. Now English has during many generations been the language of liberty; and it has proved the most potent modern instrument of social, domestic, and political progress. But English is not only the language of liberty, it is also the language of moderation. There is no other spoken language which so little lends itself to exaggeration, or in which declamatory insincerities give out so false a ring. While, therefore, you go forth to-day from these walls, the champions of all true and sound progress, never forget that temperance of aim, of thought and of speech, which ranked as the chief virtue in the ancient philosophy, and which is nowhere more effective than in our English tongue.

Do not suppose that the injunction which it was my office to address to each of you to-day, in admitting you to your Degrees, was an empty form of words. As I then charged you individually, so now I charge you collectively, that ever in your life and conversation you shew yourselves worthy of the same. There was an ancient race who, wandering forth in search of new homes, passed through a hard country till they came to a river which separated them from their promised land. When at last they had crossed that river, they set up certain memorial stones. You, young men, have also passed through a hard country of tutors and governors and anxious struggle and long toil. This day you too have crossed over into the new life to which you looked forward. Set up, therefore, this day, fixed resolutions to bear yourselves nobly in the world which you have now entered,—resolutions to which you may look back in after years, whether years of disillusionment or of failure or of success, even as that ancient race looked back for a perpetual testimony to the memorial stones at Gilgal.

The Vice-Chancellor then declared the Convocation closed, and the procession left the Hall in the same order in which it entered.

"Copy of letter addressed to the Vice-Chancellors of the Universities of Oxford and Cambridge.

CALCUTTA,

Dated 19th January, 1886.

"DEAR SIR,

"I have been authorised by the University of Calcutta to ask you whether the authorities of the University of ^{Cambridge} ~~Oxford~~ would consent to extend to students from the Indian Universities similar privileges with respect to the period of residence required for a degree to those which, it is understood, have been granted to students from affiliated Colleges in England.

"Such a concession would be much appreciated by the important class of Indian students who desire to complete their studies in England, and who would naturally be glad to bring back to India an English University degree.

"The Government of India has recently determined to assist this class of students by the foundation of scholarships tenable at the English Universities, and would be grateful for any co-operation which could be given by your University.

"I may explain that there are at present four Indian Universities, those of Calcutta, Madras, Bombay and the Panjab, and that the undergraduates of each University are required to pursue their studies at some college recognized by, and affiliated to, the University. Full information on this subject can be obtained from the calendars of the respective Universities.

I have the honour to remain,

Dear Sir,

Your obedient Servant,

C. P. ILBERT,

Vice-Chancellor of the University of Calcutta

and Member of the Council of the Governor-General in India.

II.

“Reply from the Vice-Chancellor of the Cambridge University.

CHRIST'S COLLEGE LODGE, CAMBRIDGE,

15th May, 1886.

“SIR,

“The Council of the Senate of the University of Cambridge have considered your letter, dated 19th January 1886, respecting the admission of students of the Indian Universities to the privileges accorded to students of Colleges affiliated to the University of Cambridge.

“The Council desire information on the following points:—

“1. Do all the four Universities which you mention desire that these privileges should be given to their students? The members of the Council who have examined the details of the work of the four Universities are struck by the difference in the curriculum of the Panjab University.

“2. At what period of their University career does the Indian Government propose to offer to students of the Indian Universities scholarships to be held at one of the English Universities?

“3. If the Council of the Senate recommended the Senate to grant the privileges referred to, the Council would propose that more than a bare pass in the examinations of the Indian Universities should be required from those who availed themselves of the privileges. This being so, are the students who pass the examinations of the Indian Universities divided into classes? If not, could the authorities of the Universities certify, with regard to each student who claimed these privileges, that he had reached in the various subjects a certain standard to be agreed upon? This is the arrangement made with the authorities of local examinations here, in regard to certificates exempting students from the previous examination of the University of Cambridge.

“4. Our statutes allow us to affiliate a College or School, not to affiliate an individual. Do any practical difficulties occur to you in a course which has been suggested, namely, that the University of Cambridge might affiliate nominatim, each five years, the Institutions on the list of Institutions affiliated to an Indian University?

“5.* Supposing the course suggested in the previous paragraph were adopted, and we went no further, would any valuable places of education be omitted?

“I trust that these questions will not cause you much trouble. On receiving such answers as you may be good enough to send, we shall hope to deal with the question with as little delay as possible. The present term is very short, and there is I fear no prospect of our being able to come to any definite conclusion until the Michaelmas Term. For the present we have come to no conclusion; and I will ask you to consider the questions which I have been requested to put to you merely as preliminary to a full consideration.

I have the honour to be,

Sir,

Yours very faithfully,

C. A. SWAINSON,

of Cambridge.*

*Vice-Chancellor of the University,

III.

“Views of the Vice-Chancellor of the Bombay University.

Bombay, 30th October, 1886.

“DEAR SIR,

“I enclose a series of answers to the questions propounded by the Vice-Chancellor of the University of Cambridge, and forwarded to me with your letter, dated 7th July 1886. It appears that the Resolution of the Government of India, dated 12th February 1886, ought to be reconsidered, and, if the different purposes aimed at by it are to be held in view, that it should be entirely recast with reference to these different objects. If the one or the other of the objects is to be pursued exclusively (the subject should be reviewed), it seems with reference to the interests of the Indian Universities, and the course of education followed in them. Should it be desired to make the scholarships a stepping-stone towards the Civil Service of India, an early limit of age ought obviously to be prescribed.

I have the honour to remain,

Dear Sir,

Your obedient Servant,

R. WEST,

Vice-Chancellor of the University of Bombay.

To

THE HON'BLE C. P. ILBERT,

Vice-Chancellor of the University of Calcutta.

“Answers to the questions in the letter written by the Vice-Chancellor of the University of Cambridge, to the Vice-Chancellor of the University of Calcutta.

“I. With reference to question I. Do all the four Universities desire that those privileges should be given to their students?

“The subject has not yet been brought before the University as represented by the Senate. If a general scheme for giving scholarships as a reward to the graduates or undergraduates of the Bombay University be thought desirable, it would probably be considered necessary to have the Rules connected therewith approved and adopted by the Senate. In the absence of such a sanction the appointments would probably give rise to frequent contentions.

“It is probable that the Senate would approve of the extension of the proposed privileges to students of the Bombay University, provided the holders of the scholarships could, on their arrival in England, proceed at once to the commencement of their professional education. This implies that the scholarships should be given not to undergraduates, but rather to graduates of the Bombay University. The University as such cannot be desirous of parting at the undergraduate's stage with the students who are likely to do it honour, and it is, of course, not intended that the scholarships should be aught else than a premium to distinguished abilities and industry.

“II. With reference to question II. (At what period of their Indian career does the Indian Government propose to offer to students of the Indian Universities scholarships to be held at one of the English Universities?)

“The answer to this question should differ essentially according as the students (1) are intended to go to England to complete their ordinary academic education, or (2) to pursue a course of professional study. In the first case the limit of age should be fixed about three years lower than in the second case. It is perhaps questionable whether, in the first case, an Indian University should take any part in the selection of promising students who, as the result, are to be withdrawn from itself. Such a duty could hardly be performed disinterestedly. It seems that two distinct limits of age are indispensable if the double purpose of the scholarships is to be adhered to; and that, as to the second case, except by a special dispensation accorded by the Syndicate, the candidates should be required to have taken the B. A. or B. Sc. degree, or one of a higher grade.

“As a question for an Indian University, it is obviously preferable that the scholarships should be given to graduates rather than to undergraduates; as in the former case, they would serve as an effectual stimulus to the students during the whole of their undergraduate course. There would be a greater probability also, under such a system, of young men being chosen for the scholarships who would really benefit by them, and do credit in England to the Institution at which they had received their education.

“III. With reference to question III. (Standard required more than a bare pass, &c)

“The undergraduates of the Bombay University are arranged as class I, class II, and Pass-men after each of the examinations, namely, the previous and the 1st and 2nd examinations for B. A. or B. Sc. It will be open therefore to the English Universities and to the Government of India to determine what rank in one of these examinations the student should have attained in order to qualify himself for the proposed scholarships.

“With reference to question IV. (Should (IV) the Institutions affiliated to the Indian Universities be affiliated to the English Universities?)

“It would probably be desirable that the English Universities should affiliate nominatim, on the application of the Institutions themselves, those which had been affiliated to the Bombay University for the purpose of preparing students up to the B. A. or B. Sc. degree.

“With reference to question V. (Were the (V) course referred to in question IV adopted, would any valuable places of education be omitted?)

“If the course just proposed were adopted, it does not appear that any valuable place of education would be omitted. All that have any pretensions to importance in India seek affiliation to the Indian Universities.

R. WEST.”

“We, the Committee appointed by the Syndicate to consider the proposals to affiliate to the University of Cambridge certain institutions at present affiliated to the University of Calcutta, beg to submit our Report.”

We have embodied our conclusions in the following letter, which we recommend should be sent to the Vice-Chancellor of the University of Cambridge in reply to his enquiries, dated the 15th May 1886.

W. W. HUNTER,

Vice-Chancellor of the University.

A. W. CROFT,

President of the Faculty of Arts.

The 28th February, 1887.

“FROM

“THE VICE-CHANCELLOR OF THE UNIVERSITY OF CALCUTTA.

“TO

“THE VICE-CHANCELLOR OF THE
UNIVERSITY OF CAMBRIDGE.

“SENATE HOUSE:

“Calcutta, 28th February, 1887.

“SIR,

“I am authorised by the Senate of the Calcutta University to reply to your letter, dated the 15th May 1886, regarding the admission of students of Indian Universities to the privileges accorded to students of colleges affiliated to the University of Cambridge.

“2. With respect to your first question, I regret that I have not yet been able to obtain from the other Indian Universities such information as would enable me to furnish a definite answer. The Calcutta University has, therefore, deemed it expedient to proceed in the business by itself. The Provinces throughout which it influences the higher education of the people, exceeding 120 millions of souls, are so large as to render it important to obtain a decision in respect to its own affiliated colleges, without waiting to secure uniformity of action for all India.

“3. With regard to your second question, the Government scholarships to which reference is made are awarded to graduates of this University. But the privileges which we solicit would not be confined to the holders of Government scholarships. The Senate thinks, therefore, that the question can best be discussed in its general and permanent aspects, without special reference to this particular class of students.

“4. Upon the third question, I am to say that in all the examinations in Arts of the Calcutta University, the principle of dividing the successful candidates into classes is followed. At the First Examination in Arts, which is held two years after matriculation, the candidates are placed in three divisions,—those in the first in order of merit, those in the second and third in alphabetical order. At the B. A. Examination, held two years later, there are two classes of candidates, for honours and for a pass respectively. Passmen are arranged in alphabetical order. Those who gain honours in any subject are placed in two divisions, each arranged in order of merit. The M. A. Examination is held about a year and a half after the B. A. Examination; and the successful candidates in each branch are arranged in order of merit in three divisions.

“The information now given, coupled with that to be obtained from the University calendar as to the various standards of examination, will, I hope, place the Council of your Senate in a position to formulate a definite scheme for the exemption of students of this University from certain examinations which, as members of the University of Cambridge, they would ordinarily have to pass. I have the pleasure to forward a copy of our calendar with this letter.

“5. The course suggested under the fourth question, namely, that the University of Cambridge should affiliate nominatim, every five years, all the institutions which are affiliated to the Calcutta University or teaching to a certain standard, seems to the Vice-Chancellor and Syndicate a reasonable and feasible one.

“6. The answer to your fifth question is supplied by the statement that in India there are no places of high education outside the University.

“7. In conclusion, I am to express the regret of the Senate for the delay that has occurred in replying to your letter—a delay which has been chiefly due to the necessity of consulting the Universities throughout India.

I have the honour to be,

SIR,

Your obedient Servant,

(Sd.) W. W. HUNTER,

Vice-Chancellor of the University of Calcutta."

RESOLVED—

That the Syndicate recommend to the Senate the proposal for affiliating certain Colleges, at present affiliated to this University, to the University of Cambridge.

261. The Registrar enquired whether he could buy two clocks for the Hall.

ORDERED—

That the Registrar be empowered to buy a large time-piece for the Hall, the price not to exceed Rs. 200.

262. The Registrar reported that additional godowns and a room in the north-east corner of the verandah close to the Asst. Registrar's office were required.

ORDERED—

To be deferred—

263. The Registrar enquired whether arrangements might be made for lighting the Hall with gas.

ORDERED—

To be deferred.

264. The Registrar reported that the 1st peon had served very faithfully for nearly 25 years, and would be glad to retire either on half pay or on a gratuity of Rs. 100.

RESOLVED—

That a gratuity of Rs. 100 be allowed to the 1st Peon.

265. Read a letter from the Principal, Canning College, Lucknow, forwarding a petition from Sriram, B. A., of the Panjab University, asking whether he would be eligible for appearing at the B. L. examination of this University.

ORDERED—

That the Registrar consult Messrs. Tawney, Eliot, and Pedler, as to the equivalence of standard and submit a report on the application.

266. The Registrar enquired whether a student who did not appear or who failed at the Test examination of his schools could be admitted to the Entrance examination of the University on the production of a certificate signed by the Principal of an affiliated College or by a Government Inspector of Schools or by the Head Master of a High School under public management.

ORDERED—

To be deferred.

267. The Registrar reported that it was necessary to fix the following places, in addition to the Senate House, for holding the University Arts examinations:

Presidency College,
Hare School,
Hindu School,
General Assembly's Institution,
City College.

RESOLVED—

That the Registrar make the needful arrangements.

268. Read an endorsement from the Director of Public Instruction, Bengal, forwarding copy of a letter from the Principal, Government Engineering College, Howrah, regarding the appointment of additional moderators for the F. E. and L. E. examinations.

ORDERED—

To be deferred.

269. Read an application from Abdur Rahim, who had been awarded the scholarship founded on the donation of Her Highness the Begum of Bhopal, praying that Rupees 2000 might be given to him on engaging his passage to England.

270. The Hon'ble the Vice-Chancellor, in opening the proceedings, said he wished to know if the members of the Senate had received the annexures intended to be circulated in the notice paper. He thought that every one should be in possession of those papers, before they proceeded to business.

The annexures alluded to were then distributed among the Senators.

The Hon'ble the Vice-Chancellor then rose and said that the first item of business before them was to consider a recommendation of the Syndicate for affiliating certain Colleges, at present affiliated to this University, to the University of Cambridge. This proposition dated from the time of the last Vice-Chancellor, the Hon'ble Mr. Ilbert, who has been in communication with the University of Oxford, with a view of admitting Indian students to certain privileges accorded to students of Colleges affiliated to the University of Oxford. He (the Vice-Chancellor) was glad to be able to say that, although no reference was made to this in this Report and letter before them, Oxford had agreed that certain arrangements should be made by which students of Indian Colleges affiliated to it, should be privileged to pass the University Course at Oxford for the degree of B. A., in two years, instead of in three years. To enable this to be done, Oxford had passed a Statute. The question before them referred to the University of Cambridge. His predecessor had applied to Cambridge in fuller terms than he had done to Oxford, and Cambridge had referred back to them for further information, wishing to know if all Indian Universities wanted this privilege. The Syndicate then referred the matter to a Select Committee, consisting of the Vice-Chancellor of the University and the President of the Faculty of Arts, who had embodied their conclusions in the letter which the Senate were now asked to approve. The Hon'ble the Vice-Chancellor then briefly placed the meeting in possession of the contents of the letter, and moved:

That the proposal* recommended by the Syndicate for affiliating certain Colleges, at present affiliated to this University, to the University of Cambridge, be adopted.

The Hon'ble Sir Alfred Croft, seconded the motion.

* The proposal is contained in the letter addressed by the Vice-Chancellor to the Vice-Chancellor of the University of Cambridge (See pp. 235-37.)

Dr. Rajendralala Mitra, while agreeing to the motion wished to draw the attention of the Senate to the immature manner in which subjects were brought before them. But for the explanation of the Vice-Chancellor, they would have been entirely in the dark as to the question before them. He believed there were other persons besides himself, who were unable to decide on matters thus brought before them. He had often complained of want of light and want of information, and he hoped he would not have to complain again.

The Hon'ble the Vice-Chancellor observed that if the speaker agreed to the motion before them, it would be assumed that the annexure in connection with the subject before them had been circulated in time.

The motion was then put to the vote and carried unanimously.

The Hon'ble the Vice-Chancellor said that he would detain the Senate very few minutes on the subject of the second, third, and fourth items. In regard to item No. 2, he would only say that he believed the time had come when they should really do a little more for the advancement of learning in Calcutta than they hitherto have done, and towards this end they had before them for consideration the adoption of a scheme for encouraging and assisting translations and critical editions of early vernacular texts belonging to the provinces subject to the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal. He thought that if they read the papers on the subject,—he was sorry that those papers had not been circulated,—the Senate would unhesitatingly come to the conclusion that such a scheme came within the legitimate scope of the University. The first point for consideration, therefore, was, did the scheme come legitimately within their province? He believed it did, but he would circumscribe its operations to Bengal only, as he hoped the North-Western Provinces would before long have a University of their own. The second point was as to the working details, which he thought could very well be entrusted to a Committee to be named by the Senate. The third point for consideration was as regards funds; and so far as he had been able to ascertain, they had at present sufficient funds to enable them to start the work. He understood that at the end of last year they had a balance to the credit of the University of Rs. 12,000, and it did not seem probable, that an Early Text Scheme, such as was proposed, would in any year involve an outlay of over Rs. 2,500, while he felt certain that it would remunnerate itself. He thought the meeting would agree to the proposition without demur. The Hon'ble the Vice-Chancellor moved—

That the scheme recommended by the Syndicate for encouraging and assisting translations and critical editions of early vernacular texts belonging to the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal be adopted.

The Hon'ble Raja Pearymohan Mukerjee, seconded the motion.

The Hon'ble the Vice-Chancellor's note on the scheme for encouraging and assisting translations and critical editions of early vernacular texts was as follows:—

“Note by the Hon'ble the Vice-Chancellor on a proposal for the encouragement and assistance of translations and critical editions of the Early Vernacular Texts of Bengal.”

“In compliance with the Resolution passed at the last meeting of the Syndicate, I beg to submit the following proposals for the consideration of my Colleagues.

“The preamble of our Act of Incorporation states that, for the better encouragement of Her Majesty's subjects in Bengal in the pursuit of a liberal course of education, it had been determined to establish a University in Calcutta. The seal of the University bears, as its motto, THE ADVANCEMENT OF LEARNING.

“I think that the time has come to give a somewhat more direct effect to these words than they have hitherto received. The Asiatic Society has done excellent work for the classical languages of India by its Bibliotheca Indica. The more modest task of translating and editing the mediæval vernacular texts of Bengal remains to be undertaken.

“Such a work would at present have a special value. It is definitely recognised that, in every system of truly national education, the only sound basis is a correct knowledge of the mother-tongue. A scrutiny of the Bengali papers, set for our Entrance Examination, shows that this University now demands from candidates a certain degree of critical acquaintance with the structure and fundamental canons of Bengali prose and verse. A critical knowledge, even of an old established tongue like English, can best be imparted by rendering the student familiar with the early growth of the language, as moulded and modified by the authors of each succeeding generation. In the case of Bengali, with its

* shorter history as a written language, with its structure still in the plastic stage, and with its yet undeveloped possibilities as a complete literary vehicle of human thought, a study of the early texts is still more essential. Apart from the general view with which the University was established, namely, the encouragement of liberal education, its specific function is to test, by examination, the proficiency of the school and college youth. Critical editions and translations of the more important of the Early Vernacular Texts would strengthen the hands of both examiners and students, and would enable the University to discharge, with increasing efficiency, the main duty assigned to it by its Charter in respect to the mother-tongue and the literary history of Bengal.

“Having regard, therefore, both to the general intention and to the specific function set forth in our Act of Incorporation, I think that the University would do well to encourage translations and critical editions of the Early Vernacular Texts of the provinces subject to the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal. I would circumscribe the operations within these geographical limits, because I hope that the North-Western Provinces will before long have a University of their own. Thus circumscribed, the task would not be beyond our strength, as the list of vernacular authors of standard value within the area defined is not a long one. Their lives, with some account of their works, may be studied in Pandit Rangati Nyaratna's Treatise on the Bengali language and literature; or, in a more compendious English form, in Mr. Romesh Chandra Datta's Literature of Bengal.

“The working details should, I think, be entrusted to a Committee to be named by the Senate. The pecuniary arrangements would vary in different cases. But the main object to be kept in view is the encouragement and assistance of translations and editions of the Early Vernacular Texts of Bengal. This might be effected by printing them free of cost or at a reduced rate, or by undertaking the whole charges of production and publication, or by a grant of money to the translator or editor when he had finished his work, or by such a modification of these methods as the Committee might find most suitable to the individual case. The Universities of Oxford and Cambridge have rendered an important service to English literature by the facilities which they afford for printing scholarly works. The University of Calcutta can only operate on a smaller scale. I do not think that we should attempt to set up a University press; but I do think that, so far as our means permit, we ought to act up to our motto, THE ADVANCEMENT OF LEARNING.

"To the student and historian, critical translations of the early Vernacular Texts would be invaluable. They would open up and map out the terra incognita, which stretches between the ancient and the modern literature of India and between ancient and the modern speech of the people. They would exhibit the social and domestic institutions of the country, no longer as isolated products of far separated ages, but as a continuous growth. They would enable a true history of India to be for the first time constructed—a history which, by disclosing the actual development of the Indian races in the past, would be pregnant of instruction for the present. They would assist the modern thinker and reformer in India to discharge their functions with a fuller knowledge; and they would interpret mediæval India to the Western World.

"I have ascertained that we have at present sufficient funds to enable us to start the work. The balance to the credit of the University is about Rs. 10,000; and after careful enquiry it does not seem probable that an Early Text Scheme, such as is here proposed, would in any year involve an outlay of over Rs. 2,500. In all cases the outlay would be repaid in part, and in some cases to a large extent, by the sale of the books. It might be an instruction to the Committee not to exceed an annual expenditure of Rs. 2,500 until the University had obtained practical experience of the working of the scheme.

"I beg, therefore, to propose that the Syndicate should recommend to the Senate:—

"(1) That a scheme for encouraging and assisting translations and critical editions of the Early Vernacular Texts belonging to the provinces subject to the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, be adopted.

"(2) That a standing Committee, to be named by the Senate, be appointed to superintend and carry out the work."

Mr. Ameer Ali desired to make a suggestion, which he hoped would commend itself to the Hon'ble the Vice-Chancellor and the Senate, and that was that the Oriental classics might be included within the scope of the proposal.

The Hon'ble the Vice-Chancellor was very sorry to say that he did not accept the suggestion, nor would the Syndicate accept it without further consideration.

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Harrison asked if the consideration of the matter could not be postponed to another meeting. Most of them had only seen the Vice-Chancellor's "Note" on the subject within the last five minutes, and it would be much more satisfactory if the settlement of the question was postponed to the next meeting. He would move as an amendment "that the consideration of item No. 2 be postponed to the next meeting."

Mr. N. N. Ghose seconded the amendment, as he thought the Senate should have some time for considering the question.

Dr. Lalmadhab Mookerjee supported the amendment. He thought there were points in connection with the question on which the Senate ought to have fuller information before deciding it.

The Hon'ble the Vice-Chancellor said that he had no objection to a postponement, if the meeting desired it.

The amendment was then put to the meeting and carried unanimously.

The Hon'ble the Vice-Chancellor remarked that item No. 2 having been postponed, item, No. 3 namely, the appointment of a standing Committee to superintend and carry out the above scheme would also be postponed.

271. The Hon'ble the Vice-Chancellor said that the only point he wished to bring before the Senate was as to the limit of age fixed for the Civil Service examination, which prevented students of this University from competing at that examination.

He had not given notice of any resolution, nor did he wish to move any. He had one in his mind. He did not want to force the matter to any decision by the Senate, but he did wish the Senate, which he represented, to consider whether they might not, taking advantage of the state of the public service, place on record their strong protest against a system which precluded any young man who had completed a liberal course of education in this University, or, in fact, in any other University, from entering the Indian Civil Service. If this matter was not decided at this meeting; he hoped at the next meeting to bring forward a resolution embodying the views of the Senate on the subject, which he would forward to the Secretary to the Public Service Commission, at present sitting. Having taken the opportunity of making this statement, he would at the next meeting of the Senate speak on behalf of youths who received their education under the auspices of the University.

272. The Hon'ble the Vice-Chancellor then said that they would now proceed to the business for which they had all come, namely, the election of a Tagore Professor of Law. It was scarcely necessary for him to state that the Faculty of Law, had recommended to the Syndicate two names, and the Syndicate, not being in a position to choose between the two, had sent up the whole question to the Senate. These two candidates were (1) Baboo Lal Mohan Das, M.A., B.L., and (2) Baboo Golapchandra Sarkar, M.A., B.L.

Dr. Gooroodas Banerjee suggested that the procedure to be adopted in selecting the candidates should be the same as that followed by the Faculty of Law, namely, that unsuccessful candidates should go out by the process of elimination, and the claims of only those who found supporters should be considered.

Sir A. Croft also thought that would be the best course to pursue.

Dr. Rajendralala Mitra then addressed the meeting. He said that before they proceeded to elect a Professor, they should decide the question of the subject of the Lectures. He would take upon himself to move, as an amendment, "that the subject of the Tagore Law Lectures be first selected." He thought that the subject of the Lectures was of greater importance than the Lecturer, and they should decide that first. Until they had determined the subjects of the Lectures, they could not possibly say who would be the fittest and most competent person to lecture on them.

Dr. McLeod believed that the question of the subject of the Lectures had been settled already.

Sir A. Croft seconded the amendment in order to bring the matter to an issue, though he would have preferred the amendment to be put in a general form.

Dr. Gooroodas Banerjee opposed the amendment on more grounds than one. The procedure to be followed in these matters was regulated by certain rules adopted by the Syndicate, which were to be found at pages 150-151 of the Calendar. That being so, they had applicants, having named their subjects. The Faculty of Law, with whom the selection of subjects lay, had named four subjects, and the advertisements in the papers asked the applicants to take up these four subjects. That being their position, they were now absolutely bound to consider both the subject and the election of the candidates together. To adopt any other course would be to stultify themselves. They would, besides, be going against their rules, and would be acting very unfairly to the candidates.

Mr. Cotton entirely concurred with the remarks of the last speaker. He thought it was perfectly plain that they should look, not only to the subject, but the qualifications of the gentleman who was going to lecture on the subject.

The Hon'ble Justice Trevelyan said that it seemed to him to be unfair to the candidates to adopt the procedure suggested. The best man would in all probability be able to lecture on any of the subjects selected.

Nawab Abdool Lutef did not think that the meeting had the power to put forward the amendment, after they had advertised the number of subjects and received applications from various candidates.

Dr. Lalmadhab Mukerjee thoroughly agreed with the remarks which had fallen from Dr. Gooroodas Banerjee.

The Hon'ble Rajah Pearymohun Mukerjee thought that the amendment moved by his learned friend to the right embodied a rule which could only be a safe guide for them. He thought they should select their subject first. It should be borne in mind that not only the quality of the subject, but the qualifications of the gentleman to lecture on it, had to be considered. If, for instance, they selected the subject of Riparian Rights, then there could be no question that Baboo Lal Mohan Dass, or Baboo Asutosh Mukerjee, should be elected. Similarly if the subject of Adoption was selected, then Baboo Golapchundra Sarkar would be the most eligible candidate. He thought they should first select their subject, and then the lecturer.

The Hon'ble the Advocate-General thought that the amendment proposed to be put, was entirely inadmissible. He did not see why, after four subjects had been chosen by the Faculty of Law, they should now sit down to consider which subjects were the best. The Faculty of Law, when choosing their subjects, were desirous that Mahomedan Law should be one of them, but they could not find a single candidate to lecture on it. The four subjects selected had been advertised, and each candidate had chosen that which he thought he would be most competent to deal with. He would vote against the amendment.

Dr. Rajendralala Mitra then briefly replied, after which his amendment was put to the meeting and lost.

The meeting then proceeded to elect a candidate.

The following gentlemen were proposed for the Tagore Law Professorship:—

Babu Lalmohan Das, proposed by Mr. Paul, and seconded by Babu Mohininohan Ray.

Babu Golapchandra Sarkar, proposed by Mr. Ameer Ali, and seconded by Dr. Gurudas Banerjee.

Dr. Peterson, proposed by Mr. Tawney, and seconded by Mr. Greirson.

Babu Kedarnath Ray, proposed by the Hon'ble Sir Alfred Croft, and seconded by the Hon'ble Maulavi Abdul Jabbar.

Babu Asutosh Mukerjee, proposed by the Hon'ble Raja Pearymohan Mukerjee, and seconded by Babu Debendranath Ray.

The names of the first two candidates were then put to the vote, 21 voting for Babu Lalmohan Das and 31 for Babu Golapchandra Sarkar.

The names of the three remaining candidates were next put to the meeting, the first two obtaining two votes each, and the last five votes.

Their names were accordingly eliminated, and the names of the first two candidates again put to the meeting, when 23 voted for Babu Lalmohan Das and 43 for Babu Golapchandra Sarkar.

Babu Golapchandra Sarkar was accordingly declared to have been elected.

That the Syndicate do recommend to the Senate that the following two resolutions be adopted:—

(2) “That a copy of the above resolution be forwarded to the President of the Public Service Commission for consideration.”

289. The Registrar laid before the Syndicate the following Statute of the Oxford University respecting Colonial and Indian Universities.

Despatch to Her Majesty's Secretary of State, No. 7, dated 11th September, 1886.

Telegram from Secretary of State, dated 22nd September, 1886.

READ ALSO—

Despatch from the Secretary of State, No. 128, dated 16th December, 1886.

RESOLUTION.

By Home Department Resolution dated 12th February 1886, cited in the preamble, it was announced that six State scholarships of the value of £200 each per annum, tenable for three years in England by persons who are natives of India within the meaning of section 6 of the Statue 33 Vic., Cap. 3, would be placed at the disposal of the Universities of Calcutta, Bombay, Madras, and the Punjab in rotation, one scholarship being given to each of the first two Universities during 1886 and one scholarship to each of the last two during 1887. The Government of India at the same time directed that, in the event of any special examinations being considered necessary for the election of scholars, the examinations should be held at such a time (not later than the month of June in each year) as would afford the successful candidates a sufficient interval to complete their arrangements and to reach England before the opening of the October term at the University of Oxford or Cambridge, to one of which Universities the scholarship-holders would be required to proceed. The Government of India subsequently announced, with the approval of Her Majesty's Secretary of State, that the stipend of each scholarship-holder would be paid quarterly at the end of each quarter, and it was further directed that the scholars should be instructed to report themselves to the India Office on arrival in England.

2. One scholarship was last year placed at the disposal of each of the Universities of Calcutta and Bombay. It appears that the scholar selected by the latter University, although he arrived in England in time for the October term, did not report himself at the India Office until the very latest moment, viz., the 12th of October, while the candidate selected by the former University was, owing to unavoidable causes, unable to proceed to England in time for the October term. Both the scholars, moreover, arrived in England without any formal papers for the India Office. In bringing these facts to the notice of the Government of India, Her Majesty's Secretary of State has pointed out that in future candidates selected for the scholarships in question should report themselves at the India Office before the commencement of the October term. His Lordship also considers it very important that details as to the manner in which the scholars were selected, as to the probable date of their arrival in England, and as to the choice of studies and University should reach the India Office before they arrive. The Governor General in Council desires that the Punjab Government and the Registrar of the Calcutta University will invariably arrange that this information may be supplied to the Government of India in time to enable it to comply with the requirements of the Secretary of State in the matter.

In the case of scholars selected by the Universities at Madras and Bombay, the necessary report to the India Office should be made by the Local Government.

3. As the payment of the scholarship allowance in monthly instalments and in advance is likely to prove more convenient to the scholars and to be in other respects preferable to quarterly payments, Her Majesty's Secretary of State has directed its adoption as a rule.

4. In conclusion, the Governor-General in Council deems it expedient to point out that while the scholarship allowance of £200 a year is sufficient to cover the necessary expenses of College life at Oxford or Cambridge, it is very desirable, if not absolutely necessary, that the scholars should have some small private resources of their own to enable them to meet expenses in the vacation and other general expenses which are scarcely avoidable. His Excellency in Council wishes this to be clearly explained to every candidate for the scholarship, and desires Local Governments to bring prominently to the notice of all institutions interested in the matter the fact that it is impossible for the holders of these scholarships to live with comfort in England without some private resources wherewith to supplement their scholarship allowance.

ORDER.—ORDERED that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to the Governments of Madras, Bombay, and the Punjab for information and communication to the authorities of the Universities concerned.

Ordered also, that a copy be forwarded to the Governments of Bengal and the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, the Chief Commissioners of the Central Provinces, Burma, Assam and Coorg, and the Resident at Hyderabad for information; and to the Registrar of the Calcutta University for information and guidance.

Ordered further, that a copy be forwarded to the Department of Finance for information, and that the Resolution be published in the Supplement to the Gazette of India.

In cases where Inspectors hold regular examination of private students before awarding certificates, such examination should if possible be held before the time fixed for the School Test Examinations.

The Circular to take the following form :—Copy (of the above resolution) forwarded to all Inspectors of Schools, through the Director of Public Instruction, and to all Principals of affiliated Colleges, for information and guidance.

302. With reference to a resolution of the Syndicate at its meeting on the 4th March 1887, on a letter from the Principal, Canning College, Lucknow, forwarding an application from Sriram B. RESOLVED—

That the following letter be addressed to the Commissioner of Burdwan.

SIR,

In reply to your endorsement, No. 49, dated 16th March 1887, forwarding copy of Collector's letter with enclosure I am directed by the Syndicate to state that Babu Lalitmohan Roy's demand for a farther postponement of the interest due from him is in their opinion unreasonable and inadmissible. They must therefore press for the payment

* Interest on Rs. 5,000 from 6th Chaitra 1274 (22nd March 1868) to 22nd February 1885, 16 years and 11 months at 4 per cent. 3,383 5 4 of the same* due to the University without any further delay. The Resolution of the Senate at its meeting of the 25th September 1886, to accept interest at the rate of 4 per cent. was adopted on the understanding that the money should be paid at once. The Syndicate would be reluctant to recommend the Senate to reconsider that decision in view of existing circumstances and they trust that prompt payment by Babu Lalitmohan Ray of the money due from him will render such a course unnecessary.

307. Read a letter from Mahamahopadhyay Mahesachandra Nayaratna, C. I. E., suggesting that Sanskrit or any other classical language might be made a compulsory subject for those candidates who take up Bengali, Hindi or any other Vernacular language of India at the Entrance Examination.

E. and L. E. Examinations.

ORDERED—

To be deferred.

309. Read an application from Ramasuna, B.A. of the Madras University, praying that he might be allowed to go up for the M. A. Examination of the University.

RESOLVED—

That the applicant be informed that the Syndicate see no reason why he should not appear at the M. A. Examination of the Madras University.

310. The Offg. Registrar submitted the official Report of the meeting of the Senate held on the 4th March.

ORDERED—

That the Report be printed and circulated in proof to the members of the Syndicate.

311. Read the following letter from the Principal, Presidency College.

No. 129.

FROM

CHARLES H. TAWNEY, Esq., M. A.,

Principal, Presidency College.

TO

THE REGISTRAR, CALCUTTA UNIVERSITY,

Dated Presidency College, the 29th March, 1887.

SIR,

I have the honour to inform you that owing to certain changes that will be made in our College, in which a new laboratory and lecture-room is to be fitted up, it will not be in my power to put so much space at your disposal next year for examination purposes. I should be very glad also if you could do without any rooms in the schools, as the holding of the examination in them tends to interfere with the work of the boys. In this connexion I venture to suggest that it would perhaps be as well if the B. A. and F. A. Examinations were separated from the Entrance Examination. This would enable you perhaps to hold the examination of the candidates in the University Hall. At any rate you would find it easier to manage under this arrangement than, I presume, you find it at present.

I cannot refrain also from pointing out, that it would, in my opinion, be much more convenient for yourself and the candidates, if the University were to revert to its old plan of holding the examinations in the cold weather. This would enable you to give two papers in the day. At present the F. A. Examination lasts, I believe, for ten days. No Entrance papers are set on Saturday and Sunday, so Entrance candidates really have to bear their burden for ten days. I believe that they suffered less when the agony was shorter and sharper. But the effect of the two systems on the candidates is a matter on which, as an inhabitant of a northern climate, I am hardly qualified to pronounce. I can only say that when I superintended as Registrar the supplementary Examinations, I found the work most fatiguing. In fact my experience of hot weather examinations has confirmed me in the opinion I have always held, that all the more numerous attended Examinations of the University should take place in the cold weather.

I have the honour to be,

Sir,

Your most obedient Servant,

CHARLES H. TAWNEY,

Principal, Presidency College.

RESOLVED—

That the second clause of the letter be referred to the heads of affiliated Institutions for an expression of opinion.

312. The Offg. Registrar submitted the Report of the Syndicate for the year 1886-87.

RESOLVED—

That the report be printed and circulated to all the members of the Senate before the annual meeting of the Senate to be held on the 16th day of April.

REPORT OF THE SYNDICATE FOR THE YEAR 1886-87.

The usual examinations have been held during the year in Arts, Law, Medicine, and Engineering; and a tabular statement is appended, shewing the results and affording a comparison with the results of previous years. The total number of candidates who appeared at this year's examinations was 7,115, against 6,016 in the previous year.

The number of candidates registered for the Entrance examination was 4,393, of whom 1,337 passed, 2,987 failed, 66 were absent, and 3 were expelled. Of the successful candidates, 264 were placed in the first division, 668 in the second, and 405 in the third. Of the 2,987 candidates who failed 2,384 were rejected in English, 1,486 in the second languages, 868 in history and geography, and 1,941 in mathematics. The number of candidates was greater by 76 than in 1885. The result of the examination shows a decrease in the percentage of passed candidates as compared with 1885. The number passed in 1885 was over 33 per cent., whereas in 1886 over 30 per cent. passed.

The following table shows the number of candidates that came up from each province, the number passed, and the percentage of successful candidates for the years 1885 and 1886:—

RESOLUTION.

In Home Department Resolution, dated the 12th February 1886, cited in the preamble, which announced the establishment of six State Scholarships of the value of £200 each per annum, tenable for three years in England by persons who are natives of India within the meaning of section 6 of the Statute 33 Vic., cap. 3, it was laid down inter alia that no candidate for these scholarships should be more than 21 years of age. It was further provided in paragraphs 4 and 6 of the Resolution—

- (1) that each scholar would be entitled to receive a sum of £100 for passage money, and that a similar sum would be payable within one month before his actual return to India, if he should complete the full period of three years' residence, or be compelled by sickness to return before the completion of that period: and
- (2) that if any scholar, not being disabled by sickness, failed to complete a residence of three years in England, or was guilty of gross misconduct, or disregard of the orders of Her Majesty's Secretary of State, he would, at the discretion of the Secretary of State, forfeit his scholarship and further be liable to refund the sum of £100 drawn by him as passage money.

2. As regards the age limit fixed by the Resolution of 12th February last, representations have been received by the Government of India to the effect that the result of prescribing a maximum limit of 21 years will practically involve the exclusion of Muhammadan youth from participation in the benefits of the scholarships in question. The Governor-General in Council has now, after careful consideration and consultation with the authorities of the Calcutta University, resolved to raise the age limit. It is accordingly notified that the maximum limit of age for all classes of candidates for these scholarships shall be 22 years instead of 21 years as prescribed in paragraph 3 of the Resolution above cited.

3. In accordance with directions from Her Majesty's Secretary of State, the Governor-General in Council further announces that, in modification of the orders contained in paragraphs 4 and 6 of the Resolution of 12th February 1886,—

- (1) each scholar shall be provided with a free passage to and from England instead of with a sum of £100 as passage money for each journey; and
- (2) if any scholar, not being disabled by sickness, fails to complete a residence of three years in England, or is guilty of gross misconduct or disregard of the orders of Her Majesty's Secretary of State, he will, at the discretion of the Secretary of State forfeit his scholarship, and will also be liable to refund the amount representing the cost of his free passage to England.

ORDER—Ordered, that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to the Governments of Madras, Bombay, and the Punjab for information and communication to the authorities of the University concerned.

Ordered also, that a copy be forwarded to the Governments of Bengal and the North-Western Provinces and Oudh the Chief Commissioners of the Central Provinces, Burma, Assam and Coorg and the Resident at Hyderabad for information; and to the Registrar of the Calcutta University for information and guidance.

Ordered further, that a copy be forwarded to the Department of Finance for information, and that the Regulation be published in the Supplement to the Gazette of India.

Offg. Secretary to the Govt. of India.

Despatch from the Secretary of State, No. 128, dated 16th December 1886.

RESOLUTION.

By Home Department Resolution dated 12th February 1886, cited in the preamble, it was announced that six State scholarships of the value of £200 each per annum, tenable for three years in England by persons who are natives of India within the meaning of section 6 of the Statue 33 Vic., Cap. 3, would be placed at the disposal of the Universities of Calcutta, Bombay, Madras, and the Punjab in rotation, one scholarship being given to each of the first two Universities during 1886 and one scholarship to each of the last two during 1887. The Government of India at the same time directed that, in the event of any special examinations being considered necessary for the election of scholars, the examinations should be held at such a time (not later than the month of June in each year) as would afford the successful candidates a sufficient interval to complete their arrangements and to reach England before the opening of the October term at the University of Oxford or Cambridge, to one of which Universities the scholarship-holders would be required to proceed. The Government of India subsequently announced, with the approval of Her Majesty's Secretary of State, that the stipend of each scholarship-holder would be paid quarterly at the end of each quarter, and it was further directed that the scholars should be instructed to report themselves to the India Office on arrival in England.

2. One scholarship was last year placed at the disposal of each of the Universities of Calcutta and Bombay. It appears that the scholar selected by the latter University, although he arrived in England in time for the October term, did not report himself at the India Office until the very latest moment, viz, the 12th of October, while the candidate selected by the former University was, owing to unavoidable causes, unable to proceed to England in time for the October term. Both the scholars, moreover, arrived in England without any formal papers for the India Office. In bringing these facts to the notice of the Government of India, Her Majesty's Secretary of State has pointed out that in future candidates selected for the scholarships in question should report themselves at the India Office before the commencement of the October term. His Lordship also considers it very important that details as to the manner in which the scholars were selected, as to the probable date of their arrival in England, and as to the choice of studies and University should reach the India Office before they arrive. The Governor General in Council desires that the Punjab Government and the Registrar of the Calcutta University will invariably arrange that this information may be supplied to the Government of India in time to enable it to comply with the requirements of the Secretary of State in the matter.

In the case of scholars selected by the Universities at Madras and Bombay, the necessary report to the India Office should be made by the Local Governments.

3. As the payment of the scholarship allowance in monthly instalments and in advance is likely to prove more convenient to the scholars and to be in other respects preferable to quarterly payments, Her Majesty's Secretary of State has directed its adoption as a rule.

4. In conclusion, the Governor General in Council deems it expedient to point out that while the scholarship allowance of £200 a year is sufficient to cover the necessary expenses of college life at Oxford or Cambridge, it is very desirable, if not absolutely necessary, that the scholars should have some small private resources of their own to enable them to meet expenses in the vacation and other general expenses which are scarcely avoidable. His Excellency in Council wishes this to be clearly explained to every candidate for the scholarship, and desires Local Governments to bring prominently to the notice of all institutions interested in the matter the fact that it is impossible for the holders of these scholarships to live with comfort in England without some private resources wherewith to supplement their scholarship allowance.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to the Governments of Madras, Bombay, and the Punjab for information and communication to the authorities of the Universities concerned.

Ordered also, that a copy be forwarded to the Governments of Bengal and the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, the Chief Commissioners of the Central Provinces, Burma, Assam and Coorg, and the Resident at Hyderabad for information; and to the Registrar of the Calcutta University for information and guidance.

Ordered further, that a copy be forwarded to the Department of Finance for information, and that the Resolution be published in the Supplement to the Gazette of India.
